Complete Exchange Sunday

Gen. Dean Probably Will Be Last UN Prisoner Freed By the Communists

PANMUNJOM (AP)—The Communists and the United Nations command today agreed to complete the prisoner exchange by Sunday.

The Communists at a meeting of the repatriation commission said that if for some reason they were unable to meet the Sunday deadline they would notify the U. N. command before noon Saturday.

This means the early exchange of Maj. Gen. William Dean, the highest ranking Allied captive in Red hands. He now is at nearby Kaesong and it is believed he will be the last prisoner exchanged.

The UN command representative told the Communists that he thought both sides should conclude the exchange the same day. The command previously had announced it could wind up its exchange by Sunday.

The Communists then agreed to finish by Sunday, barring unforeseen difficulties. The Reds after the 3-hour meeting turned over a roster of Communist prisoners they said still were in Allied stockades and demanded they be turned over before Sunday.

Presumably, these are some of the tougher Red prisoners, Chinese as well as North Koreans, some of whom led bloody prisoner riots on Koje Island. The Reds have accused the Allies of holding back these prisoners.

The Communists have still to repatriate 210 prisoners, including 197 Americans, out of the 4,597 non-Korean prisoners promised. They also still have 458 South Korean prisoners. However, the Reds have said more prisoners than promised would be turned over, including those captured late in the war.

The Allies have still to return nearly 7,000 North Koreans and an undisclosed number of Chinese Communists The Communists have charged the Allies were holding back 250 Chinese.

The first U. S. Sabre jet pilot shot down over North Korea returned to freedom with the 89 Americans exchanged Thursday and said Russian pilots were flying MIG jets in combat as early as December, 1950.

Otterville Man Seriously Hurt In Car Crash

Lawrence Landrith, Otterville, suffered possible fracture of the right shoulder, multiple cuts about his head, face and chin, a smashed lower lip and several of his upper teeth knocked out when his 1952 Ford collided head-on with a 1952 Chevrolet truck, driven by David Rounds, Kansas City, at 4:30 p. m. Wednesday at the Junction of highways 50 and 135.

According to the report of Rounds, Landrith was headed west on highway 50. He started to pass a car which was in front of him, saw the oncoming truck, and his car apparently "flipped" into the front of Rounds' truck. After striking the front of the truck the car then careened to the south side of the highway and landed facing east. The car was demolished, while the truck received a smashed front end. Landrith was taken to the Bothwell Hospital in the Neumeyer ambulance of Smithton. His condition was later reported as serious.

Man and Tiny Baby Die in 2-Car Crash

GRANITE CITY, Ill. (AP) — A 2-month-old baby and a Granite City man were killed and the child's mother critically injured in a headon collision of two automobiles near here last night.

Dead are Larry Eldon Gorrell, infant son of Cpl. and Mrs. Eldon Gorrell of Granite City, and William Duvall, 44, of Granite City. The child's father is in Germany.

The child's mother, Mrs. Dolores Gorrell, 25, driver of one of the cars, was taken to a Granite City hospital in critical condition. Duvall was alone in the second car.

Illinois state police said a witness told them the accident occurred about 1½ miles north of here.

It's Hotter In Hell

In case you have been wondering it is hotter in Hell—Hell, Michigan, that is. Yesterday it was 105 there. And have you heard of the father of a young fellow about a a year old who is considering taking the boy to Texas—where it has been raining for a week—in order that the lad won't grow up not knowing what rain looks like—until this afternoon, that is!

Scattered showers tonight. Cooler tonight and Friday. Low tonight near 50; high Friday in the 60s.

The temperature at 7 a. m. was 70; 87 at 1 p. m., and 72 at 8 p. m. Rainfall to 2 p. m. .15 inch.

One year ago today here high 78, low 46. Two years ago today high 74, low 64, rainfall .33 inch.

Mrs. Jerome Wolf Is Nominated For ABA Women of Year Honor

Mrs. Jerome L. Wolf

Mrs. Anna Wolf, wife of Jerome L. Wolf, 1613 East Broadway, has been selected by the Sedalia chapter of the American Business Women's Association as their candidate in the national contest for the "American Business Woman of the Year," for which a plaque will be awarded.

Mrs. Wolf's outstanding work with the United Civic Center for the young servicemen at the Sedalia Air Force Base brought her the honor of being chosen as the representative from her chapter.

A tall slender brunette with a nice personality and an ability to accomplish what she sets out to do, Ann Wolf took over the job of getting the Center ready, the Center for which she had been employed as supervisor. The space was in the old post office building, on the second floor, which needed just about everything done to it. With a small group of citizens helping, she started out with very little money to make the place into the kind of a place she knew the boys would like.

Almost alone she began talking business people and other citizens into giving things for the Center.

She spent 80 days soliciting and getting things fixed up and in 14 weeks the place was ready for the opening—on May 22 of this year. Those who had seen it before were astounded; it is one of the most attractive, homelike places any serviceman could want, with a living room, a game room and a large hallway.

Then came Ann's job of supervising the Center, which is open on Wednesday, Saturday and Sunday nights. This wasn't a new job for her. During World War II she served as civilian club manager and hostess at the Officers Club at the Sedalia Air Force Base for three years. She was in charge of civilian personnel aid, buying for the club and planning the parties. She was hostess at the Officers Mess Club, too.

Ann was born in Alton, Ia., the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Steichen, who celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary in June. Her mother was born in Diekirch, Luxemburg, and her father's parents came from Luxemburg, too, so Ann knows German. In fact, she speaks with a charming little accent.

While she was at the Sedalia Air Force Base, she was asked to take over a half dozen prisoners of war from Germany to work for her. One of the men was telling the Germans what to do and one man, who was told to mop, rebelled.

He wasn't going to mop, he was in America, he didn't have to work, he kept telling his fellow war prisoners in German while the others tried to tell him in German to stand up, there was a lady present.

Ann made a few remarks in English, then turned to him and in German said: "And you are to mop." He was so surprised he couldn't get his feet untangled from the stool while the other Germans had a big time laughing at him.

When the Civic Center was needed, Ann was appointed chairman of recreation, religion and education, she is secretary-treasurer of the Civic Center appropriations and is in charge of the Girls Civic Association of 30 young hostesses. These girls provide companionship for the boys.

Ann is very fond of the young servicemen with whom she is very popular but she has a favorite serviceman. He is Lt. (sg) Jerome L. Wolf Jr., who with his wife, the former Dorothy E. Hill of Fredricksburg, Va., lives at 201 Beachwood Ave., Norfolk, Va. He has been in service 11 years and is now administration assistant to the operations officer of the Commander, Air Force, U. S. Atlantic Fleet, Norfolk, Va. He was flying an F6F over Tokyo when peace came in World War II.

Ann was graduated from St. Mary's' Academy in Alton, Ia., and Iowa State Teacher's College, where she took teacher's training. She taught in Alton four years and then she met Jerome. When they were first married they lived in Tipton and until Jerry was grown her career was that of a homemaker. She loves to cook, keep house and she loved raising Jerry. Tipton was Jerome's hometown and later they moved to Sedalia where they have since lived. Mr. Wolf works at the Missouri Pacific Shops.

Of the work she has done at the Civic Center, Jack Cunningham, chairman of the Civic Center board, who was instrumental in organizing the group for the Center at the request of the Air Force, said of her: "She has done a marvelous job. She put herself into it and there isn't anyone else who could have done what she has done. I know I couldn't have." Then he added, "She has the personality to make the boys feel it's home."

A neighbor of Ann's was with her one evening when she went to the Civic Center. A car stopped and all four doors opened at once with a boy coming out of each door. "Here she is," they shouted, and all rushed to her. "We were down here at 6:45 and you weren't here." Of course she wasn't supposed to be there until 8 o'clock.

The neighbor looked on and afterward said: "Ann, when you were working so hard to get that Center started I just thought it was awful, but after seeing what you mean to those boys I know it was worth it."

"She is doing a splendid job," Col. Franklin K. Reyher of the Sedalia Air Force Base stated. "There has been nothing but good reaction from the boys who go to the Center."

Dulles Urges Japan Provide Own Security

Wants Vigorous Measures Taken By Nipponese

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles today urged that Japan take more vigorous measures to provide for its own internal security rather than depending so much on the United States.

Dulles voiced this view at a news conference in response to a request for comment on the Japanese defense program.

He said he realizes Japan's difficulties and its serious economic position, but that Japan seems to find money to spend on things other than defense while placing the burden for internal security on the United States.

Dulles said the United States did not want Japan to create any large army because that is prohibited under the post war Japanese constitution. What he has in mind, he said, is a sufficient force to protect the internal security of Japan against what he called any possible inroads or action of a subversive character.

The secretary, in response to reporters' questions, also said:

1. The United States is prepared to discuss possible peace in Indochina and other Asian issues if the Communists cooperate in making permanent peace in Korea. Dulles said Indochina and other issues could be discussed at what he called a second stage conference with additional countries, including the three Indochina states, represented.

2. Foreign governments and private organizations in the United States and abroad should start planning now for changes they want in the United Nations charter. He said the charter, which is due for revision in a 1955 conference, contains many provisions adopted only with very serious reservation in 1945.

3. The United States has been unable to find an alternative to its 1948 proposal for turning over all of the disputed Trieste free territory to Italy. He said the United States has explored other alternatives and is open-minded on the problem which has caused new tensions between the Italian and Yugoslav governments in recent weeks.

4. He could not comment on a resolution adopted by the American Legion convention in St. Louis which called for the United States to use every weapon, including atomic and hydrogen bombs, if the present Korean armistice breaks down into new fighting.

New Zealanders Hail Mt. Everest Conqueror

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (AP)—Thousands thronged Auckland's streets today to cheer the country's new national hero—Mt. Everest conqueror Sir Edmund Hillary—on his wedding day.

The bride was Louise Rose, 22, a viola student at the Sydney, Australia, conservatory of music. Her father is president of the New Zealand Alpine Club.

Nation Mourns Death Of Gen. Wainwright

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—The nation mourned one of its greatest World War II heroes today as plans went ahead for the funeral of Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright.

The gaunt, 80-year-old Wainwright died in Brooke Army Hospital here yesterday. Doctors said rough treatment he received as a prisoner of the Japanese contributed to his death.

Today, civilian and soldier, private and general paid tribute to "Skinny" Wainwright, the dogged general whose stubborn defense of Corregidor fortress upset the Japanese war timetable in the Pacific while a stunned United States gathered its force for a long conflict.

To Dedicate Hubbard Park's New Flag Pole

Dedication of a flag pole for Hubbard Park is to take place at 2:30 p. m. Labor Day (Monday), at which time Lou I. Studer, district storekeeper of the Missouri Pacific railroad, will be the principal speaker. O. O. Lawson, the chief booster of the Colored Booster Club of the Missouri Pacific, will introduce Mr. Studer.

Lawson will give a short talk and present to Harry W. Walch, president of the Sedalia Park Board, the flag pole on behalf of the Missouri Pacific. After the presentation, Mr. Studer will deliver his address.

The pole is about 60 feet long and when erected will stand approximately 50 feet in the air. The pole is to be placed this week by the Missouri Public Service Co. It will be located a little south of a line between the swimming pool and the highway.

Following the dedication ceremony, refreshments of ice cream and drinks will be served on behalf of the Colored Missouri Pacific Booster Club and the North Side Citizens Association.

Says Present US Aid Isn't Enough for Iran

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Iran's finance minister says 30 million American dollars aren't enough to bail his country out of anarchy—she needs 300 millions.

"The United States must remember that anarchy rules every aspect of the country at present," financial chief Ali Amini told newsmen last night. "At least 300 million dollars are needed to get the wheels of the nation's industry turning again."

Welcome Home Party For Freed Prisoner

CARTHAGE, Mo. (AP) — A community "welcome home" party will be given here tonight for Pfc. Bobby Crawford, recently freed in the Korean prisoner of war exchange.

A concert by the Camp Crowder band and the presentation of gifts will be features of the program.

Ward Schrantz, a Carthage newspaperman and retired Army colonel, will be master of ceremonies.

Crawford is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Crawford of Carthage.

Ike Creates A Security Coordinator

New Board Will Strengthen U. S. Security Programs

DENVER (AP) — President Eisenhower today created a new operations coordinating board under the National Security Council to strengthen "the security programs of the United States in the world struggle."

The President signed an executive order providing for abolition of the old Psychological Strategy Board within 60 days, and shifting its functions to the new unit.

"The main purpose in establishing the new board is to provide better coordination in carrying out the security programs of the United States in the world struggle," a statement issued at the summer White House said.

The new board will report to the National Security Council, of which the President is chairman.

Eisenhower named Under Secretary of State Walter Bedell Smith chairman of the operations coordinating unit. Other members are:

Roger M. Keyes, deputy secretary of defense; Harold E. Stassen, director of the Foreign Operations Administration; Allen W. Dulles, chief of the Central Intelligence Agency; and C. D. Jackson special assistant to the President.

Eisenhower signed the executive order shortly after he arrived at his Lowry Air Force Base office today. He returned to Denver late yesterday from a week's rest at the Colorado Rockies ranch of his old friend Aksel Nielsen, at Fraser on the western slope of the Continental Divide.

There he fished, worked on an oil painting of the Rockies, cooked for his party, and got in a lot of just plain loafing. The only interruption on the business side all week was to make public a message assuring the prime minister of Iran sympathetic American consideration of that nation's urgent appeal for economic aid.

Eisenhower looked well rested when he returned here to the home of the first lady's mother, Mrs. John S. Doud. He still complained a bit about his bruised right elbow—he bumped it in the white house before leaving Washington Aug. 8—but otherwise he appeared to be in excellent spirits.

John Rahm Hurt When Pinned Under Tractor

John E. Rahm, of two miles south of Otterville, received a crushed left leg, fractured nose, and a laceration over the right eye when his tractor overturned at 6 p. m. Wednesday, one mile south of the Lamine River Bridge on the King Bill road.

Rahm was returning home on the tractor after cutting silage in his field. He apparently lost control of the machine, and it landed, wheels up, on top of him. He was taken to the Woodland Hospital in the Ewing ambulance, where his condition was reported as good.

Will Not Rehire Yankees

UN Secretary Says He Won't Take Back Americans Despite High Court Ruling

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold says he won't rehire four American employes, ousted in connection with U. S. loyalty probes, despite a U. N. tribunal's order for their reinstatement.

Hammarskjold announced his stand late last night as the Senate internal subcommittee ordered an investigation into the tribunal's ruling that the firing of 11 American U. N. employes—including the four—was illegal. All 11 had refused to answer questions about alleged Communist ties.

In ordering the ousters reversed, the tribunal Tuesday called on the U. N. to give the four their jobs back and pay damages and back salaries to the other seven—who wanted money rather than re-employment.

The four-member tribunal, a "supreme court" created by the General Assembly to review appeals from U. N. staff members, had ruled those not reinstated should be paid damages and back salaries.

The secretary general said he asked the tribunal to compute money awards for the four but added he would refer all 11 cases to the General Assembly, "the organ responsible for appropriating funds necessary for implementing decisions of the tribunal."

In his statement, Hammarskjold said rehiring the four employes would be "inadvisable from the point of view which it is my duty to take into consideration." He did not elaborate this point but asserted that the Assembly statute setting up the tribunal gave him he authority to reject its rulings.

U. N. officials had estimated that indemnities and salary payments to the other seven would amount to about $135,000.

The new Senate subcommittee probe was announced in Washington by Robert Morris, chief counsel of the investigating group, after some members of Congress expressed strong objections to the tribunal ruling.

Morris said the inquiry, ordered by Sen. Jenner (R-Ind), subcommittee chairman, would be held in New York and probably would begin the week of Sept. 21.

In addition to inquiring into the reasons for the tribunal's decision he added, the group will reinvestigate the alleged Communist backgrounds of a number of Americans formerly employed at the U. N.

The four whom the tribunal ordered reinstated are:

Ruth Crawford, a former information officer for the International Children's Emergency Fund who had admitted to a year's membership in the Communist party but refused to say who had invited her to join.

Eda Glaser, a clerk-typist who refused to fill out a U. S. loyalty questionnaire.

Hope Eldridge, statistician.

Alexander Svenchansky, a Russian-speaking expert in the U. N. radio division.

The tribunal declared their refusal to answer questions on the grounds of possible self-incrimination did not violate U. N. staff rules.

Morris said all 11 had invoked the protection of the Fifth Amendment to the Constitution, which the courts have construed to mean a person cannot be required to give testimony which might incriminate himself.

Reds About to Free Some Men They Forced Into Germ Propaganda

PANMUNJOM (AP) — An infantry lieutenant released by the Reds yesterday brought out reports that the Communists apparently are about ready to release some of the men they had forced to take part in germ warfare propaganda.

Lt. William H. Whiteside, of Seattle, Wash., said officers had seen these men among 75 Americans at a special camp near Kaesong, the Red assembly point for prisoners about to be released.

Allied officers had feared that the Reds never would return the men they said broadcast "confessions" of engaging in germ warfare. The United States repeatedly has denied the germ warfare charges and accused the Communists of forcing the pen to make statements.

THEIR SWIM IS REALLY COOL—Swimmers in the municipal pool at Columbia Mo., get partial relief from the heat after the pool's operators dumped in some ice to see if it would cool the water. The plan was abandoned when they figured up the cost of bringing the water down to Missouri temperatures but the kids enjoyed the ice—while it lasted. (NEA Telephoto)

Wilson Tells Legion Why Air Force Cut Back 1,000 Planes

Cancellation of Orders, He Points Out, Allowed the Ordering of More Essential Planes Than Those Which Are Chalked Off

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson said today the air force's new production cutback of nearly 1,000 planes show it "now is operating efficiently."

The secretary, just before addressing the American Legion national convention which ends today, said the one billion dollar plane cancellation order was done on the "initiative" of the air force itself.

Wilson told newsmen the action cleared the way for the buying of different types of planes which are more essential than the ones cancelled.

His statement came after Col. Roscoe Turner of Indianapolis, Ind. chairman of the legion's Aeronautics Committee, charged his committee's report criticizing the Eisenhower administration's five billion dollar air force budget cut had been "emasculated and bottled up" by the legion's Security Committee.

Wilson emphasized that the cut would not affect current production of combat planes, now coming off production lines at the rate of 1,000 a month. He insisted the interim air force goal of 120 wings was not changed.

Air force officials should be given thanks for their courage in recommending the cutback, Wilson said.

"It takes courage to stand up and stop a thing that already is moving along, just to save money," he said.

Turner's attempt to make a finish fight of the air force budget cuts on the legion convention floor was sidetracked in what Turner called a "slick parliamentary maneuver." He failed to get a chance to present his committee's report calling for restoration of plans for a 143-wing air force.

"I don't know what happened," Turner said, "the roof caved in. "I was assured my minority report would be read into the record."

In his speech before the convention Wilson referred to "considerable discussion and some criticism" of the current air force program as the result of misunderstandings. He added the combat air force strength is "building up rapidly" and that this nation must "continue to have air power second to none."

Walter Reuther, making the first appearance of a CIO president before a legion convention, said the Communists in America don't get to first base with their propaganda because of basic American common sense.

The CIO and AFL have driven Communists from positions of leadership and influence in their unions, he said in a prepared speech, and "we accomplished this without sacrifice of constitutional guarantees."

Also on tap was the election of national officers. The campaign headquarters of Arthur J. Connell, Middletown, Conn., claimed yesterday he is assured of election as the next national commander.

Lawrence J. Fenlon of Chicago, who has been generally mentioned with Connell as a leading candidate for the post, has declined to predict the outcome of the election.

The legionnaires heard Secretary of State John Foster Dulles warn Red China yesterday that it might provoke a war between itself and the West by aggression against Korea or Indochina.

Just before this warning note was sounded, the legion itself demanded full-scale action, including use of atomic and hydrogen bombs, to drive the Communists out of Korea if the peace negotiations there fail.

Denounces Partition Of Germany

Dulles Calls It 'Scandal, Crime,' Blames Russians

WASINGTHON (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles today denounced continued partition of Germany as "a scandal" and "a crime." He said Russia was solely to blame for this.

In a statement, Dulles called on Russia to attend a Big Four foreign ministers meeting, as proposed by the West, Oct. 15 to discuss the deadlocked German and Austrian problems.

The conference was proposed in a joint U. S.-British-French note to Moscow, made public last night.

It appeared to put the Soviets on a diplomatic spot and simultaneously give West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer powerful campaign ammunition for Sunday's election test.

Dulles' statement was given reporters at a news conference during which the secretary declared that failure of the West German people to reelect Adenauer's coalition would have a very disastrous effect on prospect for German unification.

Repudiation of Adenauer's moderate government would certainly create confusion which would indefinitely postpone solution of the German problem, he said.

It was the strongest public endorsement of Adenauer yet voiced by any top rank American government official.

Adenauer, long regarded as staunchly pro-Western, was expected during the last three days of the pre-election battle to hail the Western note as proof this policy will insure German unification and backing for his insistence on free elections throughout Germany as the first big step.

U. S. diplomats frankly asserted the latest note to Moscow would automatically give Adenauer a last-minute helping hand. But they insisted it was a sincere Western effort to settle the critical German and Austrian issues.

The three-power notes, delivered to the Russian Foreign Office yesterday, called on Russia's Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov to discuss Germany and Austria's future at a formal meeting in Lugano, Switzerland, starting Oct. 15.

Rain Comes Today

One O'Clock Shower Breaks Long Drouth With Rain to Keep Falling Into Night

Rain began falling at 1 o'clock this afternoon, breaking a long drouth in Sedalia and giving signs of really getting this area wet for the first time in 30 days.

The last rainfall of any consequence was 1.10 inch on August 4 and that went back, through evaporation, as nearly as fast as it fell.

Indications were that today's showers would continue into tonight.

Along with the rain came a cool front that let temperatures drop to a lower point than they have been—day or night—for more than a week. A near-50 reading is scheduled tonight. Tomorrow's high may be no higher than 60.

Mass of Cool Air Rolls Over Midwest

By The Associated Press

A mass of cool air—the first welcome relief from the prolonged heat wave—moved into the midsection of the country today.

But in the eastern quarter the heat, and in some sections humidity, held a vise-like grip on the weather.

The heat spell was nearly two weeks old in some sections east of the Continental Divide. However, in most places it was in its 10th day today.

At least 114 deaths were attributed to the high temperatures, which set records almost daily in every state of the swelter belt. Millions of dollars in crops were ruined by the sun and lack of moisture.

The cool air moved into Montana, Wyoming and Colorado Wednesday night. Snow, sleet and ice forced closing of an entrance to Yellowstone National Park. Temperatures dropped to freezing and just above that mark.

Rain and winds up to 60 miles an hour hit Denver yesterday, dropping the temperature from mid-80 to 49 degrees.

Part of the cool air moved into the Dakotas and eastward as far as the Indiana-Illinois line. Some rain accompanied the cooling breezes.

In New York City, by contrast, residents had an early start on what the weather bureau said probably would be the hottest September 3 in its 82-year history. The temperature was 89 at 10 a.m., and was expected to go beyond 90 for the 10th successive day.

The Chicago weather bureau said the east probably will continue to swelter until the weekend.

The cool air mass is not moving fast, as indicated by the forecast for Midwest areas today. Chicago, wilted after two straight days of 101 and readings of 95 or higher since Aug. 25, was in the path of the expected cool air.

However, before it arrives, temperatures in the Midwest metropolis today were expected to reach 98. The forecast for tomorrow was for "near 80" after a low of 62 tonight which, in view of the blistering heat, was regarded as a predicted cool snap.

Showers were expected to accompany the cooler air. Readings were 20 to 32 degrees lower yesterday in parts of Montana. It was 53 yesterday in Helena compared to a high of 85 on Tuesday. Sharp drops also were reported in parts of North Dakota.

But it was the same story, temperature-wise, in scores of cities in the hot belt as heat records for the date and for September toppled. Readings above 100 were not uncommon and generally they were above 95 over the entire eastern half of the country.

One of the nation's hottest spots was Elmira, N.Y., which reported a reading of 107 in the downtown district. It was 104 in Kingston, N.Y., and many cities in New York state rported readings of above 100.

Portsmouth, Ohio, sweltered for the second straight day in temperatures of 107 and it was 105 in Newark, N.J., and Salisbury, Md. Louisville baked in readings of 103. It was 102 in Cleveland, Cincinnati, Springfield, Ohio, and Harrisburg, Pa. The 101 at Hartford, Conn., was the city's highest mark. It also was 101 in St. Louis and an even 100 in Boston, Washington, Philadelphia and Albany, N. Y. The mercury shot to 99 in New York City, breaking records, and it was the same in Dayton and Akron, Ohio.

New York City water officials said reservoirs are only 72 per cent filled and citizens were asked to cut down waste. Water consumption in the metropolis has been running 300 million gallons above the normal daily average.

Deaths from heat prostration or heart attacks aggravated by hot weather mounted to at least 111.

Illinois led the nation in heat deaths with more than 30. Sixteen died yesterday in Chicago as the mercury climbed to 101. Other heat deaths included Pennsylvania, 17; Massachusetts, 12; New York, 8; Maine and New Hampshire, 6 each; Connecticut, 5; Texas, Minnesota, Wisconsin and New Jersey, 3 each, and 2 each in Indiana, Maryland, Michigan, Missouri, Ohio, Rhode Island and Vermont.

SAFB Is 'Operation Fireball' for Refueling Planes In Bendix Trophy Air Race Saturday

The Sedalia Air Force Base has been designated "Operation Fireball" as a refueling station for the military phase of the Bendix Trophy National Air Races. Two F-86-F Sabre Jets, which are being flown by Col. Mike Horgan and Major Ed. Johnson from the Air Proving Ground Command, Elgin Field, Fla., will make the landings here about 10 a. m. Saturday.

SAFB was chosen for the stop because of its direct route between Edwards Air Force Base, Calif., and the Dayton Municipal Airport, Dayton, O., starting and finishing points for the race.

Ten airmen under command of Lt. A. C. Hamby, Elgin Field, are assigned to the SAFB on temporary duty to handle the refueling task. The men have been especially instructed to handle this particular operation.

Lieut. Hamby said today it ordinarily takes 30 minutes to refuel a F-86-F Sabre Jet, but their aim is to accomplish the job in three minutes.

The officer explained the time for refueling is included in the time required to finish the course from Edwards AFB to Dayton. "So," Hamby said, "it is the objective of this refueling group to refuel the planes in a period of three minutes from the time the planes land on the runway until they are in the air again with the wheels locked."

In discussing the refueling task, Lieut. Hamby was confident his operation will be a complete success. "We know we are in Missouri, so we are going to show you," he concluded.

There are only two refueling points on the course for the Air Force craft, the other being at La Junta, Colo.

The two planes are scheduled to get off the Edwards AFB runways about 7:45 a. m. Saturday and drop in on the SAFB no sooner than 9:45, and possibly no later than 10 a. m. The flying time to here has been estimated at approximately two hours.

Wheat Price Falls, Bread Cost to Rise

NEW YORK (AP)—The housewife who thought that falling wheat prices on the Chicago Board of Trade might lead to cheaper bread at the grocery may be startled next week.

Some brands of bread will cost a cent a loaf more after Labor Day. In a few cities the price has already risen.

Bakers say that's because flour costs them more now than a year ago. Lard costs them more than at any time since 1951. The milk which some use costs more. Labor in baking and trucking the bread costs more.

Pictures of wheat surpluses overflowing storage bins and being left on the ground led many to expect a drop in the cost of flour and bread.

Purchasing agents in the baking industry, however, say they pay 60 cents more than last year for a hundred pound sack of the kind of flour used in bread baking.

Flour millers explain it this way:

Bakers of bread prefer flour from hard red winter wheat. This year's crop of that variety was only 70 per cent of the size of the 1952 crop in contrast to the entire wheat crop, which fell into the bumper class again this year.

Farmers growing hard red winter wheat, moreover, are accustomed to using government loans, mostly have adequate storage facilities, and so could put much of their 1953 production under government price supports. Millers say there was little or no distress selling of this type of wheat, and that the going price for it now is above the support level.

Some of the wheat you saw pictured in piles on the ground was of the soft red winter wheat variety. This year's crop of that variety, millers say, ran well ahead of last year. Bakers of cakes and pastries use flour from this soft red winter wheat, bread industry men say.

There is plenty of wheat, of course, for the milling and baking industries. But millers also stress that their own operating costs have been rising. Freight rates are higher. And the big corn crop is crossing them up.

That's because millers count on offsetting milling costs to some extent by the sale of animal feed. This comes from the part of the wheat which isn't made into flour. This year, however, they say this form of animal feed is up against the competition of a big supply of corn.

So the demand from stock feeders for the millers' product is less and prices are around 25 cents a bag lower than last year. With income from that source cut, millers say their flour price margins are narrowed.

Boy Has Officials Stumped, Judge Calls Him Completely Bad

RALEIGH N.C. (AP)—There's a 13-year-old boy in jail here whose case has officials stumped.

Leon Davis, a former inmate of the Eastern North Carolina Training School, was arrested two weeks ago after allegedly breaking in skylights of two Raleigh stores and rifling their money tills.

A jailor reported that the youth unscrewed radiator valves and threw them out the jail window, hurled eating utensils through the window, slashed his mattress into strips and sailed toilet paper over the front lawn of the courthouse.

The problem became worse, the jailor said, when the boy put soapy water on the window ledge so the painters would fall off.

The boy has been termed "completely incorrigible." Judge W. C. Harris says he doesn't want to send the youth to prison, but officials say he can't be turned loose.

Bigamy Charge Fades, Along With Memory Of Justice of Peace

DETROIT (AP)—Because an Indiana justice of the peace had "no independent memory" of having married them, Michigan's bigamy case against a taxicab driver and his radio-dispatcher girl friend blew up.

Leslie Wendell is the driver and Shirley Brewer the cab dispatcher.

Bigamy was charged on the grounds they had married in Angola, Ind., without benefit of divorces from previous spouses. The prosecutor's office, however, asked that the charge be dismissed and Recorder's Judge Joseph A. Gillis agreed.

Harry E. Shoup, an Angola justice, sent word he had "no independent memory" of marrying Leslie and Shirley last Sept. 26 as alleged.

South Koreans Think Kim Il Sing To Sign Pact With Russians

SEOUL (AP) — South Korean govment sources today expressed belief that North Korean Premier Kim Il Sung had gone to Moscow to conclude a military pact with Russia.

The North Korean radio said on Wednesday Kim and five top Red officials were en route to the Soviet capital at the invitation of the Kremlin.

Government sources here predicted North Korea and Russia would draw up a pact along lines of the recent mutual security pact between the United States and South Korea.

A South Korean intelligence source said that because Gen. Peng Teh - huai, commander of Red China's army, also was reported en route to Moscow, the Reds may plan to include North Korea in an existing military alliance between Red China and Russia.

Chile Again to Send Copper to Red Areas

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—President Carlos Ibanez last night signed a decree permitting exportation of strategic materials to Iron Curtain countries. The decree abolishes existing restrictions on such shipments.

Economy Minister Rafael Tarud explained that since fighting in Korea has ended, it is no longer necessary to maintain restrictions injurious to Chilean interests.

Copper is Chile's principal export product.

Truman Will Appear On TV This Fall

NEW YORK (AP)—Former President Truman reportedly will make his first commercial appearance on television this fall.

A spokesman for the TV-Radio Workshop of the Ford Foundation said yesterday that negotiations are in progress for Truman to appear on one of the weekly programs for young people over NBC entitled "Excursion."

Bishop Will Deliver Sermon In Korea

TOKYO (AP) — Dr. Henry Knox Sherrill, presiding bishop of the Episcopal Church, called on Gen. Mark Clark today and accepted an invitation of the Far East commander to visit Korea.

"The bishop will go to Korea Sept. 12 and deliver a sermon to American servicemen there on Sunday, Sept. 13," a spokesman for the church said.

Building Costs Stay At Record Levels

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government reported today that expenditures for new construction continued at record levels in August, totaling over $3.300,000,000.

Dollar volume was about 7 per cent over the total for August last year, but the amount of actual construction was up only slightly because of higher construction costs.

Islands Batten Down For Coming Hurricane Off Florida Coast

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Hurricane flags flew over the islands of Antigua and Barbuda in the Leeward Island chain today warning residents to batten down for hurricane Carol.

The tropical storm was moving west-northwestward toward them at a steady 15-mile rate, packing 100-mile winds near the center.

Northwest storm warnings were up on the island of Guadeloupe and a preliminary hurricane alert was ordered for other Leeward Islands west of Antigua and Barbuda to St. Martin and Saba.

An advisory at 5 a. m., EST, from the Weather Bureau at San Juan, P. R., estimated the storm's position as about 270 miles east of Antigua and roughly 1,700 miles east southeast of the Florida mainladn.

Will Erect Rickety Sheds at Kitty Hawk To Honor Wrights

WASHINGTON (AP) Two unpainted, sagging wooden sheds will be erected this fall at Kitty Hawk, N.C., in honor of the Wright brothers.

The sheds, replicas of those in which Wilbur and Orville Wright worked and slept, are to be used in the re-enactment of the flights that marked the birth of powered aviation 50 years ago.

But sponsors promised the National Park Service, which is responsible for the Kitty Hawk Monument, that the sheds will be demolished after the anniversary celebration if they detract from the appearance of the memorial.

Motorist Is Fined More Than $5,000, Highest In Country

CHICAGO (AP) — Fines totaling more than $5,000 were assessed against a motorist yesterday and the judge said the penalty was the highest ever made for traffic offenses in the United States.

Jerry Leverson, alias L. J. Borwen, 27 was fined $5,349 on 71 traffi c violations, most of them speeding. Police had hunted him for more than a year but said he had eluded them by changing homes and jobs frequently.

Leverson, a car polisher and father of three children, was unable to pay the fines and was taken to the city jail. He faces a sentence of more than nine years if he works his fines off at the rate of $1.50 a day.

Municipal Judge Joseph Butler fined Leverson on each charge and said: "Ordinarily, when a man has to serve a lot of time in jail I feel sorry for him, but this time it's a pleasure . . .

"You have no respect for the law, the police, or the courts. And I have no respect for you."

Heavy Clothes Did It

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP)—A man who collapsed from heat prostration yesterday as the temperature flirted with the 100-degree mark was found to be wearing five suit coats, a vest, a heavy work shirt, trousers and woolen underwear.

Between 75 and 80 years old, he identified himself as Thomas Moynihan, a hermit, with no regular address, police said.

Thieves Ransack His Apartment, Leave Pair of Kittens

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Everything was quiet in the second floor apartment when Mitchell Lipschutz came home shortly before midnight. Unlocking the door and stepping into the darkened room, he was startled by a strange "meow."

Snapping on the light, he saw a small animal carrier on the table. Inside were two kittens. They hadn't been there when he left some hours earlier.

Then he found a kitchen window pried open by thieves, who had escaped with clothes, cash and other items Lipschutz estimated to be worth $77.90.

Apparently the thieves also had left the kittens.

US Continues Present Financial Assistance To Iran Government

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government announced today allotment of $23,400,000 to continue present aid to Iran, as distinct from the special financial backing being prepared for its new anti-Communist government.

The Foreign Operations Administration said the money would be used to continue programs and projects developed during the past three years under the Point Four program of technical assistance to underdeveloped countries.

In an exchange of letters with U. S. Ambassador Loy Henderson, Premier Zahedi affirmed the assistance agreements made by his predecessor, Mohammed Mossadegh, on U. S. aid and promised his government would "expedite the fulfillment of programs designed to advance the welfare of the people of Iran."

The amount allotted, to be made available during the present fiscal year, is in line with the level of help extended to Iran in recent years.

Tomatoes Are Ripening Too Early, Soup Firm Junks 100 Truckloads

CAMDEN, N. J. (AP)—The Campbell Soup Co. has ordered the destruction of nearly 100 truckloads of ripe tomatoes because the firm has no facilities to process them for canning.

A firm spokesman said tomatoes are ripening earlier than usual in the heat wave.

The company said farmers are being paid for their loads and that the firm is absorbing the loss.

Approximately 97 per cent of tomatoes delivered to the plant Monday, Tuesday and yesterday were ordered destroyed, the spokesman said.

The company said the plant is operating 24 hours a day, seven days a week in an effort to process as many tomatoes as possible.

Reds Hurl Riceballs

PANMUNJOM (AP) — Communist prisoners being handed over to the Reds today angrily hurled balls of rice at U. N. personnel.

It wasn't the rice that made them dangerous—it was the egg-sized rocks in the centers.

No bullseyes were reported.

Woman Tries Suicide By 3 Different Ways

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Police said last night a 39-year-old woman tried to commit suicide by:

Taking three different kinds of poison.

Slashing her wrists and ankles with razor blades.

Attempting to strangle herself with an ironing cord after leaving a suicide note.

Found unconscious at home by her husband, she was taken to a hospital in serious condition.

AF Notifies Plane Producers of New Cutback of Billion

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Washington Post said today the Air Force has notified plane producers of a new billion-dollar cutback that would trim nearly 1,000 aircraft off previous buying plans.

Three quarters of the cutback was said to apply to combat-type planes.

The Post said word of the move came from "reliable sources" following a meeting yesterday between Roger Lewis, assistant secretary of the Air Force, and representatives of the aircraft manufacturers involved.

The cut would be in addition to the controversial five billion dollar reduction in Air Force funds programmed this fiscal year.

Says Hiring Dropped In Factories In July To Lowest Since 1949

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department reported today that factory hiring declined in July to the lowest rate for that month since 1949, while factory layoffs increased.

The department's Bureau of Labor Statistics said the hiring rate per thousand employes in manufacturing plants dropped from 51 in June to 40 in July. The firing rate, however, increased from 9 to 12.

The bureau said the reduced hiring rate "reflects a leveling off in the trend of factory employment, rather than major change in the employment situation."

The bureau said the high firing rate was chiefly due to plant shutdowns in the automobile industry and curtailed output of farm equipment.

Marine Pilot Tops Military Speed Record In Famed Skyrocket

EL SEGUNDO, Calif. (AP)—A Marine Corps speed pilot who flew the Douglas D558-2 Skyrocket to a record altitude of 83,235 feet now has piloted the rocket plane at a speed faster than any other military flyer.

In an attempt to crack the 1,238 m.p.h. record set in the same aircraft by Douglas test pilot Bill Bridgeman, Lt. Col. Marion E. Carl, 37, of Quantico, Va., flew it at 1,143 m.p.h. yesterday high above Edwards Air Force Base.

The Skyrocket was dropped from the bomb bay of a Superfortress at 32,000 feet. Carl ignited his rockets and roared upward. He leveled off at 68,000 feet and started into a downglide. The peak speed was reached at 48,000 feet.

Demos Said Asking Lamb to Be Treasurer Of National Committee

WASHINGTON (AP) — Edward Lamb of Toledo, Ohio, was said by an informed source today to be under serious consideration as the next treasurer of the Democratic National Committee.

Some committee members already have approached him about the matter, this source said. He added that Lamb probably would accept the job as an obligation to the party.

At Democratic national headquarters, a spokesman said Lamb is one of several persons being considered for the appointment.

Lamb is publisher of the Erie (Pa.) Dispatch and owner of a number of television and radio stations, which include WTOD in Toledo and WMAC-TV in Canton-Massillon, Ohio.

Reds Return First US Pilot Downed In Korea

FREEDOM VILLAGE (AP)—The first American Sabre jet pilot shot down in Korea was returned by the Reds today. He reported Russian troops were participating in the Korean War as long ago as December 1950.

Capt. Lawrence V. Bach, 29, of Grand Forks, N.D., said he was shot down by a Communist MIG fighter Dec. 22, 1950. He said he was taken to Manchuria, where he was questioned by Russians.

He said before going to Manchuria he was questioned by another Russian officer in North Korea who told him that Russian pilots were leading flights of MIGs in combat against Sabre jets.

Clerk Faces Charge Of Taking 7 Cents

DENVER (AP)—Hubert Leo Hutt, 31, postal clerk at Fort Collins, Colo., was released under $500 bond yesterday pending his arraignment on a federal charge of misappropriating 7 cents in postal funds.

Charles S. Vigil, U.S. district attorney, said the suspended clerk is accused of collecting 65 cents for mailing fees on a parcel post, then placing only 58 cents in stamps on the package.

Heat Swells Bridge

TROY, N.Y. (AP)—Feel sticky in this weather? So does a lift bridge here.

The span between Troy and Green Island in the Hudson River was expanded by the 100-degree temperature and wouldn't budge when operators tried to raise it for an oil barge yesterday.

The tanker still was waiting today for the 200-foot span to cool off.

Hal Boyle's Column---

Heedless Hal Conquers Giant Ledge, High In the Catskills

Editors note: Giant's Ledge, a hitherto irreproachable outcropping of the Catskills, has been scaled by a party led by heedless Hal Boyle, a barefoot Missouri boy with an iron purpose. His first-person story follows. ....

By HAL BOYLE

ATOP GIANT'S LEDGE, N. Y. (AP)—At last! We are here!

I can hardly breathe. Boy, even at 3,000-plus feet the auto exhaust fumes get you in the Catskills.

Our party has planted the Confederate flag on the peak here and we are negotiating to sell the place to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

First of all, I would like to say that this feat would have been impossible without the careful planning of my faithful wife, Frances. She fixed the sandwiches.

She is back at base camp No. 1—home. I will never forget her heartening farewell words:

"Anybody who tries to scale Giant's Ledge after 40 when he could stay here and play gin rummy is nuts."

Nor can I wipe from my mind her querulous feminine query:

"Why is Giant's Ledge such a challenge to you?"

Surely you must remember my quiet but firm reply:

"Because, my dear, it is there."

Well, it is still there—and I and my party are atop of it. We did a typical American thing on accomplishing this feat. We first sat down and panted, scratched our initials on a rock, and cooked some hot dogs.

Naturally the world wonders what it is like up here in the clear, clean (cough, cough) zone. Well it appears that this area once had a tropical climate, as the first thing we saw was a ruined orange peel. Also it had been penetrated earlier by a barbarian explorer who inscribed this proud message of his achievement:

"Kilroy was here."

Nothing else is left of his passing. One can but wonder what emotions stirred the breast of that forgotten rude savage chief as he surveyed the tremendous scene.

He has gone, but time has not dimmed the splendor of that vista. Humbly we stood in the dread shadow of an even more unassailable peak called—well, let's be honest—Mt. Pleasant. With two more oxygen masks and three more hot dogs we could of climbed it, too, and that's the truth.

Below us spread the far splendid acres of the lady who sells fresh corn for 75 cents a dozen ears on weekends—and 50 cents a dozen on Mondays, when tourists are scarce.

History, of course, will want to know who first reached the top of Giant's Ledge. Was it Bill and Fredrika Gray of Life Magazine, the sponsors of our expedition, or one of the six freckled young animals in their keeping? Or was it I? Or was it Mrs. Hugh Tenzing Blake, who previously had prepared for the ordeal by climbing every rugged cliff in Bermuda?

The world may wonder, but we mountaineers have no jealousy. For us it was a team job. You will never get from us the secret of who was first to reach the top.

What difference does it make? We made the peak.

But I will give you a tip. If you are middle-aged and trying to scale a mountain, always follow behind the prettiest girl in the party. It will give you something to look forward to, as you climb from peek to peek.

Gets Life Sentence For The Second Time

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Jake Tate was sentenced yesterday to life in prison—for the second time.

The Houston man was given a life sentence in 1935 for killing a woman but was pardoned in 1944.

Yesterday the 53-year-old Tate was sentenced to life in the May 11 fatal shooting of Mrs. Doretha Grigsby, 44, who was shot four times as she ate lunch in the paper firm where she worked.

Aim Was Too Sharp For His Own Good

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Horace Boutwell's aim was too sharp for his own good.

The 13-year-old fired his air rifle yesterday at a .22-caliber rifle bullet resting on a saw horse several feet away.

His dead-center shot sent the hull of the .22 cartridge whizzing back into his left shoulder. At the hospital, Horace wanted to know if anything like that ever happened to Wild Bill Hickock.

Will Open College Course With a Match

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—You've heard of officials throwing out the first ball, launching ships or cutting ribbons to open projects?

Well, the president of the University of Maryland is going to burn the first building here next Tuesday.

Dr. H. C. Byrd will open the 20th annual short course for firemen by setting the torch to a building. The firemen will then go to work and put out the blaze.

Will Attend Rally

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Democratic Minority Leader Sam Rayburn and Texas Agriculture Commissioner John C. White have announced they will attend the Sept. 14-15 Democratic rally in Chicago.

Admits Firing Rifle At Own Automobile

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A 24-year-old man who twice reported being shot at while riding in his car admitted yesterday he fired the shots himself.

Deputy Sheriff T. A. Buchanan said Jack Carlisle pumped .22-caliber rifle bullets into his car and wrote himself a threatening letter to arouse sympathy for himself because his wife was planning to divorce him.

Buchanan said Carlisle would be examined by doctors and that criminal charges probably would not be filed.

John Payne to Wed Alan Curtis' Ex-Wife

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP) — Movie actor John Payne's marriage to Sandra Curtis, former wife of actor Alan Curtis, will be Sept. 27, says her aunt, Mrs. Donald Roarty.

Mrs. Roarty said the wedding, the third for each, would be a quiet affair in the bride's Belair home.

TOKYO (AP)—An earthquake was felt in Tokyo and a wide area of central Japan today but no damage or casualties were reported.

Councilman, Mayor Are Put In Pillory

MARTINSBURG, W.Va. (AP) — Councilman W. H. Peery went to the pillory yesterday on a trumped-up charge of bank robbery, but he wasn't alone as a victim of Martinsburg's kangaroo court.

Mayor Carlton B. Stuckey also took his turn before public ridicule.

Neither minded it, however, since it was only part of the city's celebration of its 175th birthday.

Freed Pilot Says Russians Flew In '50

PANMUNJOM (AP) — The first American Sabre jet pilot shot down over North Korea returned to freedom today and said Russian pilots were flying MIG jets in combat as early as December 1950.

The Reds, meanwhile, hinted broadly they may free their prize captive Maj. Gen. William Dean, in a few days. A South Korean general said Dean would be released within a day or two.

Capt. Lawrence V. Bach of Grand Forks, N. D., reported he was questioned by a Russian flier who said openly that fellow Russians were leading flights of MIGs against American Sabre jets.

Bach, who was shot down Dec. 22, 1950, said he was taken across the Yalu River into Manchuria for questioning by Russian officers after several Russians had questioned him in North Korea.

Communist news correspondent Wilfred Burchett of the French newspaper L'Humanite said Gen. Dean has been held the past three weeks in a special villa near Kaesong awaiting repatriation.

Burchett gave no hint as to when Dean might be repatriated but said he is in good health.

Red China's Peiping radio also reported Dean was in Kaesong and said he gained 60 pounds in captivity. Pictures of Dean brought to Panmunjom by Burchett Thursday showed him tanned but thin.

No American prisoner thus far exchanged has caught even a glimpse of Dean, former commander of the U. S. 24th Division, who was captured near Taejon early in the war.

The Communists returned 89 Americans Thursday, plus 5 Canadians, 6 Britons and 200 South Koreans.

The Reds have promised to turn over 300 more prisoners Friday—the third straight day they have failed to meet the 400 per day rate they themselves set when the POW exchange began Aug. 5. Friday's group will include 95 Americans, 5 British, and 200 South Koreans.

Among Americans freed Thursday was Lt. Col. Aldrich Zacherle of Tacoma, Wash., and Des Moines, Iowa, the highest ranking officer sentenced to Red prisons just before the armistice. The Communists also liberated one other American officer, a British officer and 13 enlisted men sentenced to jail and "no repatriation" at the same time.

Zacherle said he could give no reason for the wave of trials and jail sentences given Allied prisoners just at the time an armistice was being concluded. He speculated, however, that the Reds wanted to have some POWs in jail as a lever to win the return of certain Chinese and North Korean prisoners if necessary.

The return of 89 Americans Thursday leaves only 197 officially scheduled for repatriation. However the Reds had said earlier totals may be increased and returning prisoners have said as many as 500 non-Korean prisoners are awaiting repatriation at Kaesong.

In addition, there may be "isolation" camps where the Communists are holding men they do not wish to mingle with other prisoners.

One special camp reportedly holds a Marine lieutenant colonel and other airmen the Reds have quoted as confessing to germ warfare charges.

Another camp held men sentenced to jail terms but a returning prisoner said the last 19 prisoners held in this stockade were freed Thursday.

As the prisoner exchange neared an end, returning Red POWs grew more violent and Allied officials said they feared more trouble as the last diehard prisoners are returned at Panmunjom.

The U. N. Command repatriated 2,400 Reds Thursday, many of them screaming and chanting slogans and hurling stones and other missiles.

A spokesman said that barring some unexpected hitch, all Red prisoners who want to be repatriated will be returned on or before Sunday.

In Tokyo, Army authorities said a U. S. corporal known to fellow prisoners as "Slick" voluntarily returned to an Army hospital after being AWOL since Aug. 28. "Slick" disappeared shortly before he was to have left for the United States. He had been flown to Tokyo after fellow repatriates reportedly threatened his life for "ratting" on prisoners to gain favors from the Communists.

The Army said "Slick" was questioned by military police and was temporarily placed in their custody today.

US Has New Weapon Against A-Attack--- The Scorpion F89D

HAWTHORNE, Calif. (AP)—America has a new weapon against a sneak atomic bomb attack—the new Scorpion F89D all-weather interceptor, which carries 104 rockets.

Northrop Aircraft Co., which builds the plane, described it as the heaviest-armed fighter known to exist. The 2.75-inch rockets are carried in twin wing-tip pods and can be fired to saturate a pattern the size of a football field. They also can be fired in smaller groups.

The announcement, approved by the Air Force, declared each rocket is capable of destroying the biggest A-bomber.

The F89Ds are in the 600-mile-an-hour class and can fly above 45,000 feet. They are powered by twin Allison J35 turbojet engines equipped with afterburners.

The War That Still Rages In Korea

Red Guerrillas Cost U. S. and South Korea Millions a Day

EDITOR'S NOTE: For this first-hand report on the war that still rages in Korea, NEA roving correspondent Fred Sparks spent a week on the hunt with anti-guerrilla forces of the Republic of Korea. He has covered similar Communist uprisings before in Greece, Malaya, Indo-China. This is the first of three dispatches.

By FRED SPARKS
NEA Staff Correspondent

TAGU, Korea—There is still a war going on in Korea.

It is not a flashy, headline war of attacking regiments and rocketing jets. It is an ugly guerrilla war in the typical Communist pattern made notorious in Greece, Malaya and Indo-China.

Although the truce terms specify removal of all units from behind the lines, there are countless reasons to believe this guerrilla war will expand in the months ahead, a new approach to break the heart of South Korea from within.

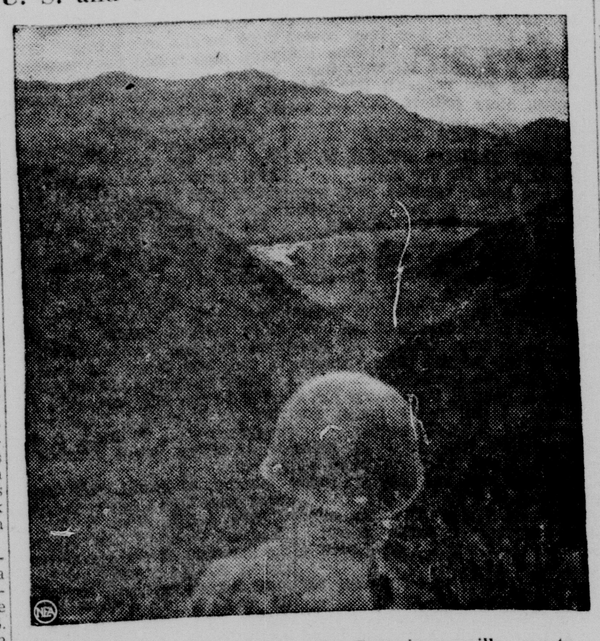

Two thousand seasoned guerrillas, directed from North Korea and aided by thousands of terrified, innocent farm people, are costing South Korea and the U.S. millions daily and tying down more than 25,000 soldiers and a like number of policemen and volunteer guards.

* * *

If you think this is only a few Reds, remember: There are only 500 Mau Maus, yet they engage the full time of a crack British division in Kenya.

There never were more than 5,000 guerrillas in Greece, but it took a billion American dollars, the military genius of General James Van Fleet and a Greek army of 20,000 to crush them.

It is a hit-and-run war. The guerrillas hit at night — jump a wandering soldier, ambush a truck, fire a railroad station—and run when government forces appear.

THESE ARE THE HILLS that give Commie guerrillas sanctuary for their hit-and-run war in Korea. Here a South Korean anti-guerrilla trooper looks down a ridge that's a road to Reds.

THIS IS THE TERROR that springs from guerrilla attacks and makes every farmer a suspect. Here ROK soldiers search a peasant for supplies he might be smuggling to the Reds.

From the Yalu River, through the heart of South Korea to the southwestern corner where the Cheri-san Mountains tower above rich valleys, there is a continuous line of cliffs and hills.

* * *

The guerrillas, expert ridge runners, use the hills as a highway despite the efforts of patrolling troops. Almost nightly since the truce, couriers from North Korea have been arriving at guerrilla GHQ in the Cheri-san chain with these instructions:

"Consolidate your units now. Prepare for greater activities. The truce does no affect your operations.

"You are the beginnings of a new movement to 'liberate' all Korea from the Fascist American invaders. Stand fast: We are sending reinforcements."

The Korean Minister of Home Affairs, Hin Hun Shik, says the "re-enforcements" mean 28,000 Communists being trained in N. Korea to infiltrate south.

The original seed for the present guerrilla war was planted in the fall of 1950 after General MacArthur made his landing at Inchon, took Seoul and scattered North Korean forces.

Thousands of Reds, by-passed by our GISs, took up mountain residence, feeding themselves from villages too numerous for defense.

Two years ago American and ROK divisions in "Operation Rat Killer" scratched 21,000 guerrillas. But, as I noted during a jeep and mountain climbing journey, the terrain is so pitted with caves and crevasses that the world's soldiery could parade back and forth and still overlook populated pockets.

* * *

Studying the day's ticker at anti-guerrilla headquarters here is like reading the medical report of a sick man's internal disorders:

Three ROK soldiers in a truck shot by snipers . . . Four shepherds kidnapped (forcibly recruited) . . . Wife of a policeman tied to a rock, her throat slit. . . . One hundred yards of telephone wire on the main trunk line slashed. . . . A town arsenal looted of two sub-machine guns.

All trains are guarded, doors locked to prevent unfriendly boarders who might leap on at slow curves. Many night runs have been cancelled. Jeeps travel in pairs, with a soldier, gun on the ready, sitting next the driver as "shotgun rider." Hairpin mountain roads offer cover for any ambush party. Towns have a 10 p.m. curfew.

* * *

These are the basic guerrilla objectives:

To sap morale and encourage South Korea to drastic acts further splitting the Allies.

To ready a behind-the-lines organization to slice the land should the big war re-explode.

To maintain GHQ for spying activities on Allied placements.

To offer a haven for any Communist working in cities and a GHQ for illegal Red printing presses which now turn out bales of Red papers with Molotov's proclamations.

Tomorrow: Hunters on the trail.

Inn Operator Charged With Tax Evasion And Faking Returns

LOS ANGELES (AP)—An indictment charging income tax evasion and falsifying income tax returns was returned by a federal grand jury yesterday against Wilbur I. Clark, operator of the Desert Inn in Las Vegas.

He was released on his own recognizance pending trial, date of which has not been set.

The Internal Revenue Bureau claims Clark and his wife owe about $50,000 additional taxes for a period covering the years 1946 and 1947. Clark's attorney, Alva Baird, says the government owes the resort owner a rebate.

Ike Shifts To Just Part Time Vacation

DENVER (AP) — President Eisenhower shifted from a full - time to a part-time vacation today.

The President returned here late yesterday from a week's rest at the Colorado Rockies ranch of his old friend Aksel Nielsen, at Fraser on the western slope of the Continental Divide.

There he fished, worked on an oil painting of the Rockies, cooked for his party, and got in a lot of just plain loafing. The only interruption on the business side all week was to make public a message assuring the Prime Minister of Iran sympathetic American consideration of that nationJs urgent appeal for economic aid.

Eisenhower looked well rested when he returned here to the home of the First Lady's mother, Mrs. John S. Doud. He still complained a bit about his bruised right elbow —be bumped it in the White House before leaving Washington Aug. 8 —but otherwise he appeared to be in excellent spirits.

The President, who caught the largest trout of any member of his party at Fraser, wanted to know as he stepped from his car in Denver what kind of luck the newsmen who accompanied him had.

"How many fish did you catch?" he asked one reporter.

"Well, I think I landed three or four," the reporter replied, obviously satisfied.

"That's not very many," said the President with a deflating grin. "However, it's better than being skunked."

The sore elbow kept him out of the trout stream half of the week at Fraser, but he still managed to hook a trout which weighed 1¼ pounds and measured 15⅜ inches—the record catch for the week.

Youngsters Imitate TV Wrestling Match, Boy's Arm Is Broken

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Eleven-year-old George Manes and his sister Ellen, 13, sat down for a quiet evening of television last night.

A wrestling card flashed on the screen. Ellen caught George's right arm in a scissors lock, and it broke.

Their parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Manes of Vernon, Tex., said they will stay around until the fracture heals.

Blonde Bluffs Two Cashiers Out of $20

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—A dumpy blonde with a flair for histrionics yesterday bilked two cashiers of $20.

Her act, according to police reports, went like this:

She made small purchases at four establishments, paying at each with a $10 bill and vociferously demanding change for a $20. It worked twice.

"She yelled so loud," one cashier said, "that we were trying to shortchange her, we just gave her the money to save embarrassment."

Shah Averts Revolt In Iran By Ghashghaies

SHIRAZ, Iran (AP)—A special envoy from Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi—backed by a show of force—apparently has averted a revolt by the powerful Ghashghaies tribe and staved off an invasion threat to this historic Iranian city.

Ali Heyat, governor of the Fars region, who trekked into the tribal area to consult leaders of the warlike people, declared yesterday that the situation was "satisfactory" and "any hypothetical danger has been averted."

The Ghashghaies were strong supporters of ex-Premier Mohammed Mossadegh, ousted by a pro-Shah uprising Aug. 19. The tribal chief, Mohammed Nasser, fled to the surrounding hills. Army intelligence reported he and his 200,000 warriors were preparing to invade Shiraz, a city of 115,000 in south-central Iran.

Ordering strong army forces to garrison fortresses in the area, the Shah sent Heyat to contact the tribesmen and somehow persuade them to obey the new government of Premier Fazollah Zahedi.

Heyat arranged a meeting with Nasser yesterday on a lonely hill 150 miles from the city.

On his return, he said he had given Nasser a personal invitation from the Shah to visit the monarch in Tehran and Nasser "probably will accept."

The envoy added that the chief "certainly" would agree to a purge of Communist elements in the tribal rank and file. Although Nasser himself is described as a strong anti-Communist, it is believed here that the tribal unrest was due to Red propaganda among the warriors.

20 Soldiers Drown When Boat Capsizes

FT. BRAGG, N.C. (AP)—Twenty soldiers, many of whom could not swim, drowned within sight of comrades on shore here yesterday when a training boat capsized in a reservation lake.

The post public information office said late last night it still did not know how many men were aboard. Only two of the survivors were hospitalized. Neither was in serious condition.

Some of the survivors were helped ashore. Others swam the 100 yards to safety despite their bulky fatigue uniforms and non-swimmers' panicky efforts to grab them.

The men were members of the 406th Engineer Brigade. Most were basic trainees. They were on an orientation ride on the mile-long lake in a boat consisting of two 14-foot-long assault craft bolted together end to end. It went down in about 10 feet of water.

Otto Edwards, Ft. Bragg safety director, said the normal load for such a boat is only about 25 men.

Army officials in Washington said they thought it was the worst training accident, not involving aircraft, since World War II. Edwards said it was the biggest single accident toll he had seen in 12 years as safety director at 27 Army installations.

The boat dipped water when it turned to go back to shore. It tipped over after some of the men became panicky, the PIO reported. Edwards said he understood about half of the men could not swim.

The swimmers were hampered by their loose-fitting clothing, combat boots and ammunition belts with attached canteens.

Army medical corpsmen tried for hours to revive the victims after their bodies were pulled from the water and lined up on shore.

Names of Drowned Privates Released

FT. BRAGG, N.C. (AP)—The Ft. Bragg public information office today released the names of 20 men, all privates, who drowned yesterday when an engineers' training boat capsized on a reservation lake here. The victims and next of kin:

Lewis May Ask Another Boost In Coal Royalties

WASHINGTON (AP)—A report thta the coal miners' welfare fund ran in the red last year spurred speculation today that John L. Lewis may seek another boost in the royalties paid by mine owners.

The report on fund operations during the year ended June 30 showed yesterday receipts of 131½ million dollars and expenditures of nearly 139 million. Therefore, about 7½ million had to be drawn from reserves, reducing them to 92 million.

Lewis, who is president of the United Mine Workers and chairman of the fund's trustees, last fall persuaded mine operators to raise the royalty they pay into the fund from 30 to 40 cents for each ton of coal produced.

However, production went down, so that the increase in fund revenues was only five million dollars, while expenditures went up more than 12½ million.

Th principal increase in cost, the report said, resulted from the addition of 6,706 miners during the year to the list of those receiving $100 a month pensions.

Syngman Rhee Visits Freedom Village

FREEDOM VILLAGE, Korea (AP)—South Korean President Syngman Rhee today paid a brief visit to Freedom Village, where American prisoners returned by the Communists are processed.

Rhee and his wife were accompanied by the 8th Army commander, Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor.

THE "BOSS"—In a mock political ceremony at the Children's Aid Society's James Center in New York, this six-year-old boy was elected mayor of "Tot Town." The tiny politician with the familiar stogey in his mouth waves his hat from the door of City Hall as he thanks voters for returning him to office.

Picket Loses Job After 12 Years And 40,000 Miles

CHICAGO (AP)—A picket who has trudged an estimated 40,000 miles in 12 years in front of an automobile company lost his job yesterday as Chicago's longest strike was settled.

"It was beginning to get rather monotonous," said Alexander (Scotty) Orr, who had been on picket duty since 1941 at the Petersen Chevrolet Co. The AFL Auto Mechanics Union had picketed the company since 1939.

"I walked slow," said Orr, a 69-year-old ruddy-faced Scot. "If you walk too fast the people can't read the sign. Then, I was getting old on the job too—that slowed me down some."

Orr said the union bought him a new pair of shoes every six months and supplied him with a new sign.

"Weather's hard on those signs, and I marched eight hours every day, rain, snow or shine, barring Sundays and holidays," he said.

Asked what he planned to do now that he was out of a job, he said:

"I'll get me a rocking chair and sit in it for maybe a year. Of course, I'll soak my feet now and then, just from habit. I'll miss some of the nice people that used to chat with me every day."

Don Burrows, the union's business manager, announced the strike settlement. He said the auto firm had agreed to terms which other Chicago area Chevrolet dealers had accepted. He said the settlement provides for a union shop and wage scale with commission for mechanics, helpers and apprentices.

Carl Petersen, owner of the agency, said when the union attempted to organize his shop, his mechanics and other workers refused to join. Since, however, he said with the majority of auto service men signing up his workers finally agreed to become union members.

Six Men Tear Trailer From 710 Pound Man

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—They huffed and they puffed, but it took six men two hours to tear down the trailer house of 710-pound Fred Pebley.

Using piano-moving equipment, saws, hammers, jacks and ramps, the moving company men grunted and groaned to ease the 38-year-old native Kansas man from his quarters to a specially constructed bed at the county home.

The big, jolly man said it was the first time in 12 months he had left the trailer. His legs cannot support his weight. He arrived at the home several months ago and had to live in his trailer because of his size.

Doctors said his size is the result of an overactive pituitary gland.

A county home spokesman said Pebley and his trailer were abandoned here last year by a promoter who had previously put him on exhibit in this area.

Pebley's new bed weighs 240 pounds and is without springs. Springs won't hold him up.

Pebley, who has no family other than his father in West Plains, Mo., grinned, "I'm free and happy."

Nurse Will Die Tonight In 'Hot Seat'

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — A nurse who poisoned the infant niece she had insured for $5,500, then calmly watched the body cut open for an autopsy, dies in the electric chair tonight unless Gov. Gordon Persons intervenes.

If she pays the penalty, 55-year-old Mrs. Earle Dennison will be the first white woman ever electrocuted in Alabama. One other white woman was sentenced to death, but the verdict was reversed on appeal. A Negro woman was put to death in 1930.

The governor, who can commute Mrs. Dennison's sentence to life imprisonment if he chooses to spare her life, will announce his decision following a morning clemency hearing.

Unless he overrules the trial court's verdict, the frail, impassive nurse will be led from her death cell at Kilby Prison at one minute after midnight and electrocuted for the arsenic slaying of 2-year-old Shirley Diann Weldon.

She also was charged with killing Weldon child, Polly Ann, but was never tried for that offense. Arsenic was found in the bodies of both girls.

The haggard, graying widow was convicted by a male jury at Wetumpka in August 1952, but the death sentence was set aside pending an automatic appeal to the State Supreme Court. The court upheld the verdict last June and then denied a rehearing a month later.

Gov. Persons then postponed the execution from Aug. 21 to Sept. 4 to give psychiatrists time to determine the condemned woman's mental condition. She had pleaded insanity at her trial. Doctors decided three days ago that she was sane.

Mrs. Dennison, who had been chief operating room nurse at the Wetumpka, Ala., hospital, was arrested May 8, 1952, seven days after Shirley Diann died in convulsions at the hospital.

She admitted in two signed statements that she gave arsenic to the blonde, curly haired child in a soft drink during a visit to the Weldon home near Wetumpka May 1. Mrs. Dennison recalled that Shirley Diann had climbed affectionately into her lap and hugged her around the neck just before she swallowed the poison.

While the child lay dying, Mrs. Dennison said, she drove to the home of an insurance agent and paid an overdue premium on a $500 policy on the child's life. The aunt was the beneficiary on that policy and on another one for $5,000.

Then, when an autopsy was ordered on Shirley Diann's body, Mrs. Dennison watched the operation which revealed the arsenic.

Says Rising Ocean Will Narrow Maryland

SOLOMONS ISLAND, Md. (AP)—A scientist at the Chesapeake Biological Laboratory here says that eventually there won't be an Eastern Shore in Maryland, much of one anyway.

Dr. R. V. Truitt says the area eventually will be covered with water—several thousands years from now.

The reason, he says, is that the great polar caps are melting, causing the oceans of the world to rise one seventh of an inch per 100 years.

Cold Air Moves In From Canada, Chills Rockies

DENVER (AP) — The first cold weather of the season chilled the Rocky Mountain region today while residents of the eastern United States sweltered in record-breaking heat.

A cold air mass from Canada moved rapidly across Montana, Wyoming and Colorado last night.

The northeast entrance to Yellowstone National Park was closed by snow, sleet and ice. Park officials reported Beartooth Pass, near Cooke City, Mont., was covered with 2 to 4 inches of snow early yesterday. Later it turned to sleet and froz on the highway. Snow also fell in the Gallatin Mountains near Bozeman. Elsewhere in Montana, heavy rains were reported.

Montana temperatures early today were generally in the lower 40s and ranged down to 37 at Dillon.

Scattered rain storms hit Wyoming too, and spread generally along the mountains from Denver south in Colorado.

It dropped to 32 at Fraser, Colo., on the western rim of the Continental Divide, where President Eisenhower concluded a week's outing yesterday.

Otterville Has 207 Enrolled

Otterville Public Schools opened Tuesday, Sept. 1, with an enrollment of 207. Classes began Wednesday.

Marion F. Wille, new superintendent, came to Otterville from Columbia, where he was doing graduate work at the University. He received his bachelor of arts degree at Kirksville; master of arts degree at Greeley, Colo. His teaching experience includes three years as director of post technical school, Bryan, Tex., superintendent of schools at Lynwood, Calif., Ravenwood and several other Missouri towns. He served with the aerial engineers, Army Air Force, for five years.

His wife, Mrs. Mary Harphom Wille, will teach music, physical education, health and social studies. She received her bachelor of science degree at CMSC, Warrensburg, and her master's degree at Greeley, Colo. She taught at Central College, Fayette, Northeast Missouri State Teachers College, Kirksville, and in Colorado and California.

Harry O'Mealy, Sedalia, is the new high school principal and coach. He will also teach mathematics and science. Mr. O'Mealy received his B.A. at Carroll College, Wis.; master of arts at University of Wisconsin. He taught for ten years in a Wisconsin high school and in Arizona and Missouri.

Other teachers are: Mrs. Harold Stahl, commerce and home economics; Mrs. Wade Burford, English and social studies; elementary grades: Mrs. Herbert Kuhn, primary; Mrs. A. Y. Burford, second; Mrs. Raymond Hansen, third and fourth; Mrs. Leo Lewis, fifth and sixth; Mrs. Glen Ripley, seventh; Miss Carry Anna Sanders, eighth.

Mrs. T. J. Putnam has been elected secretary to the superintendent. Irl Leaton is custodian and bus drivers are: F. S. Needy, Sammy Potter, A. Y. Burford, Mrs. Lawrence Lee and Mrs. John Watring. A new 44-passenger school bus has been purchased and Mr. Needy will be the driver.

The lunch room will be under the supervision of Mrs. Lestar Young, assisted by Mrs. Burford Jenkins.

Local teachers going elsewhere to teach are: Miss Geneva Wood, Springfield; Miss Lois Bente, Independence; Mrs. Charley Carson and Mrs. Irl Leaton, Smithton; Mrs. Lloyd Speaker, Sedalia; Miss Lucille Wear, Springfield, Ill., and George M. Nichols, Jefferson City.

Police Court's Fines $2,354 During August

The City of Sedalia is $2,354 richer for the month of August due to police court activity during the 31 days of heat. It was reported to be the largest month for cash collected through police court fines in the history of Sedalia.

Judge R. L. Weinrich assessed $2,663 in fines of which $80 was given in stays; $163 delinquent fines, which will be paid this month; and 66 days committed to the city jail.

Chief of Police Edgar Neighbors reported officers have been cracking down on careless drivers, drivers of motor vehicles under the influence of intoxicating liquor and other minor infractions of the law.

Several cases of persons arrested, while driving under he influence of intoxicating liquor, by members of the State Highway Patrol, were turned over to the city courts.

Shrimp Are Males Until 3 Years Old

LIVERPOOL, England (AP)—M. N. Mistakidis came up today with a report on the female shrimp of the lower Thames River — and have they got a past!

Most of them, it seems, used to be males.

Mistakidis is experimental officer at the Burnham-on-Crouch fisheries laboratory. He said an examination of 5,000 shrimp showed the males turned into females just before their third birthday.

In a report prepared for the 115th annual meeting of the British Association for the Advancement of Science, Mistakidis said the cause of the sex change has stumped his researchers.

Lodge Notices

The annual picnic and fish fry of the Sedalia Shrine Club will be held Sunday, Sept. 6th at the Knob Noster State Park, serving to start at 1:00 p. m. This picnic will be held at Camp No. 1 instead of Camp No. 2 and the road will be marked to the camp. Bring your own service. A short business meeting will be held at 10:00 a. m.

N. H. Lewis, President.
F. G. Knerl, Secretary.

OBITUARIES

William George Pratt

William George Pratt, 27, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Bryant Pratt, Jefferson City, died Tuesday night at University Hospital, Columbia, death being due to polio.

The Pratt family resided in Sedalia a term of years prior to 1939, since which time they have lived in Jefferson City. His father is district supervisor for the National Life Insurance Company, and a brother, Robert Raymond Pratt, is manager of the Public Loan office on East Fourth in Sedalia.

Pratt had been ill for about a week and was admitted to the Columbia polio center on Saturday. Funeral services will be at 2 p. m. Friday at a Jefferson City funeral home with burial in Riverside Cemetery.

The services will be conducted by Rev. Benjamin S. Shmidtke, Rev. D. Russell Lytle and Rev. L. M. Starkey. Serving as pallbearers will be Bert Bates, James Dalton, James Owens, McCormick Wilson, Carl Rodgers and John Thurlo.

He was born at Newport, Ark., July 2, 1926 and was a graduate of Jefferson City schools and held B. A. and M. A. degrees in art from Missouri University, where he was a member of Sigma Nu social fraternity. He served as a Navy dental technician in World War II and in the Korean War and was preparing to enter the dental school of Loyola University, Chicago, this fall. He was a member of the Methodist Church.

He is survived by: his wife, the former Marylyn Schewalter, whom he married Aug. 21, 1948, at Green Bay, Wis.; two daughters, Katherine Lynn, 4, and Nancy Jeanne, 2, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Bryant Pratt, all of the home; and a brother, Robert Raymond Pratt, Sedalia.

Mrs. Carrie Bensing Rites

Funeral services for Mrs. Carrie G. Walch Bensing, who died Tuesday night at a hospital in Kansas City, Kan., will be at 2 p.m. Friday at the Zion Evangelical and Reformed Church, Kansas City, Kan. Her home was in Kansas City, Kan.

Mrs. Bensing, widow of the late Herman Bensing, who died several months ago, resided in Sedalia up to about 40 years ago.

She was a sister to the late Charles F. Walch, hotel and cafe man here many years, and an aunt of Mrs. Walter W. Dittmer, 1302 North Grand.

She was the mother of a large family and surviving are four daughters and four sons.

Miss Margarete A. Kahrs

Miss Margarete Kahrs, 83, 400 East 12th, died at 9:15 a.m. Thursday. She had been ill for several months.

Miss Kahrs was born in the Lake Creek community, July 14, 1870, daughter of the late Henry and Dora Demand Kahrs. She has lived in Sedalia 80 years, coming here when three years old. She was well known in Sedalia and until her health failed was engaged in the dressmaking business.

Miss Kahrs is survived by: three sisters, Mrs. George Bryan, 420 East 11th, Mrs. Anna M. Reynolds, 811 West 11th, Mrs. A. Gafkin, Kansas City; three nieces, Miss Dorothy Gafkin and Mrs. Robert Fitzpatrick, Kansas City, Miss Margie Bryan, Sedalia; three nephews, George Bryan, Garnett Bryan, Sedalia, and Donald Gafkin, Joplin.

Pallbearers were Jack Alpert, Bobby Joe Oman, Dick Paxton, Phillip Pfeiffer, Kenneth Miller and Richard Barman.

Burial was in Crown Hill cemetery.

The body was at the Ewing Funeral Home until the hour of the service.

Rule Airman Toth Illegally Removed To Trial in Korea

WASHINGTON (AP) — District Judge Alexander Holtzoff today ruled that former airman Robert W. Toth was illegally removed to Korea to face a military court on a murder charge. Holtzoff ordered Toth, 22, of Pittsburgh, released from air force custody.

The judge, however, stayed his order releasing Toth, to permit the air force to carry the case to the Court of Appeals.

He refused to remand Toth to air force custody and instead fixed a bond of $1,000 for his release to return to his Pittsburgh home. Toth was ordered to remain in custody of the U.S. marshal until bond is posted.

William A. Kehoe Jr., one of Toth's attorneys, said he hoped to post bond soon.

The 22-year-old steel worker, who had been honorably discharged, was arrested in his home town last May by military police and was flown to Korea. There he was to be tried by a U. S. court martial on charges of murder and conspiracy to commit murder in the killing of a South Korean civilian who was caught in a restricted area.

Holtzoff ruled last June 25 that Toth had been illegally arrested and ordered him returned to the United States. The U.S. Court of Appeals denied an appeal by the air force.

Seaton Named As Assistant Defense Sec'y.

DENVER (AP) — President Eisenhower today picked former Sen. Fred A. Seaton of Nebraska to be an assistant secretary of defense.

The President gave Seaton, a Republican, a recess appointment which is subject to Senate confirmation when Congress reconvenes in January.

Eisenhower also appointed Hugh C. Cumming Jr., a career diplomat, to be ambassador to the Republic of Indonesia. That selection, too, is subject to Senate confirmation.

Seaton, 43, served as an advisor to Eisenhower during the presidential campaign a year ago. He is president of the Seaton Publishing Co., which publishes the Hastings (Neb.) Daily Tribune and other daily newspapers.

Seaton also operates radio stations, is publisher of the magazine, Western Farm Life.

Iran Needs 300 Millions In Aid

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Iran's finance minister says 30 million American dollars aren't enough to bail his country out of anarchy—she needs 300 millions.

"The United States must remember that anarchy rules every aspect of the country at present," financial chief Ali Amini told newsmen last night. "At least 300 million dollars are needed to get the wheels of the nation's industry turning again."

Report Slavs Ask Big 3 Intervention

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—Foreign Affairs Undersecretary Ales Bebler was reported today to have asked the Big Three Western powers to try to persuade Italy to call off her troop movements along the Yugoslav border.

The semi-official news agency Yugopress, which has close connections with the foreign office, said Bebler made this request in separate meetings yesterday with diplomatic representatives of the United States, Britain and France.

Britain Will Not Bring Others Into Suez

CAIRO (AP) — A high Egyptian source said today Britain will not insist upon Iran, Turkey and Greece being included among the countries that could activate the giant Suez Canal base for Western use if threatened with attack.

The source made the statement as Britain's chief negotiator, Lt. Gen. Sir Brian Robertson, prepared to depart tomorrow for London with what is believed will be a tentative draft of a Suez solution.

Army May Need Ike's Okay to Release Files

Missourians Have Rough Time In NY

NEW YORK (AP) — The Big Town wasn't exactly kind to two visitors from Missouri yesterday.

Mrs. Cora Hight of Springfield got shot in the leg after:

1. A pickpocket got the wallet of her son James while they were riding on a Staten Island ferry.

2. On the way back to James' east side apartment three young thugs took the rest of her son's money.

It was when the Hights tried to run that Mrs. Hight got shot. One of the thugs fired three bullets at the pair.

But Mrs. Hight, in New York on the first vacation of her life, was undaunted.

"Shucks, it takes something worse'n that to scare me," she said, adding that she still thought New York was a fine place full of fine people.

Also shot yesterday—while strolling through Central Park with her parents—was 7-year-old Janet Murphree of Parkville, Mo.

Janet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Murphree, received a minor wound in the lobe of an ear.

Police were unable to determine who fired the shot, which apparently came from a small caliber rifle.

The Murphrees have been visitng here after vacationing in Canada.

Her 'Son' Released, List Says, But He Really Is Her Hubby

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP)—Mrs. Charles J. Wilson was sitting in her home, talking with her parents, when 12-year-old Donna Meed dashed in last night with news her husband had been freed by the Korean Reds.

Corporal Wilson, a Negro, had been captured early in 1951 and was among the Americans released in last night's war prisoner exchange.

Mrs. Wilson turned on the television set just in time to hear an announcer tell of her husband's release.

Two Missourians Among Crash Dead

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The 6th Army said two Missourians were among 19 soldiers killed Tuesday night in the crash of a chartered plane near McChord Air Force Base in Washington.

They were Pvt. Joseph M. Briscoe, whose grandmother Mrs. Mattie Cheshier, lives at 518 S. Jefferson Ave. in St. Louis, and Pvt. Ezekiel Turk Jr., whose father, Ezekiel Turk, lives at 112 W. 8th Ave. in Sikeston.

The 6th Army did not immediately identify five of the 19 victims pending a further check of addresses.

U. S. Operates a Reception Center for Soviet Defectors

SOMEWHERE IN WEST GERMANY (AP)—Here is the open door for Soviet nationals who choose freedom. It is a reception center for defectors, many of them fugitives from the Soviet armed forces.

The center is paid for and operated by the U. S. government. It produces detailed information about conditions in the Soviet Union. It turns disillusioned ex-Soviets into free men.

The address is not revealed—for the safety of present and future defectors.

The reception center was founded 2½ years ago after the Korean War showed how little the U. S. government knew about the Soviet empire.

Dozens of defectors have passed through. It seems the word is getting back to Soviet forces.

The center occupies a series of villas scattered through gardens and woods. Its American personnel wear plain clothes and are gifted at foreign languages, human relationships, morale building.

In private offices, defectors and staff experts are paired off to write detailed studies on the Soviet Union as the defectors know it.

The topics may range from the activity observable at a Siberian factory to the price of food in Tiflis and the disposition of Soviet army formations in Poland. Precise data on developments inside the U. S. S. R. are gathered with especially keen interest.

The findings are sent to Washington, London and Paris. Exchange of information about the Soviet Union is on a reciprocal basis among the countries.

The center's responsibility is not finished when a Soviet national exhausts his fund of information. He must be helped to a new career and protected from Soviet reprisal.

The center enlists other U. S. authorities in helping him get a visa to a country in the Americas, preferably the United States, though Canada and Brazil are also favored destinations.

Missouri Makes All-Out Attack On Road Problem

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Missouri is making a double-barreled attack on its rural road problem.

Today, Gov. Phil M. Donnelly appointed five county judges to act as a special advisory group, to help build rural roads under the recently enlarged King road law.

Donnelly chose these five county judges from wide spread sections of the state:

Miles T. Lee of Charleston, Mississippi County; Charles M. Massie of Hipkins, Nodaway County; Rolland O. Shadday of Joplin, Jasper County; Abe I. Bevans of Williamstown, Lewis County, and Otto Buchholtz of New Haven, Franklin County.

Shadday and Buchholtz are Republicans, the rest Democrats.

Their job is to meet with the State Highway Commission and formulate general plans and specifications for the improvement, construction and maintenance of county roads used for the transportation of school children, milk or mail.

Under the new schedule enacted by the legislature last spring, the state will supply up to $1,000 a mile in matching money to help a county build such roads. The state also will contribute up to $50 a mile in matching money to maintain such roads.

Donnelly urged the five men to meet with the commission Tuesday, Sept. 15, and get started on the job.

Yesterday, four House and four Senate members held a preliminary get-together to lay the groundwork for their study of the rural road situation.

John Zander Gives Program For Kiwanians

John Zander, proprietor of United Rent-Alls and instructor in Dale Carnegie courses, was the speaker at the meeting of Sedalia Kiwanis Club at Bothwell Hotel Thursday noon. In addition to an interesting talk about the art of public speaking and the background of the Carnegie courses, he gave an amazing demonstration of acquiring memory filing methods. After a list of 10 numbered objects were written on the blackboard which he could not see he could call off the names of the object in order, backwards, forward or at randum.

The Rev. Edward R. Sims was program chairman in the absence of W. A. Smith.

The club elected the following delegates to attend the District Kiwanis convention in St. Joseph Sept. 27, 28 and 29: Jack Shoemaker, Jack Crawford and Sylvan Woolery; alternates, Richard B. Coe, Herman Pack and W. A. Smith.

The club recognized in song the birthday anniversary of Song Leader Abe Rosenthal.

Carl Howard, Kansas City, was a guest of Floyd Dillion.

Carl Miller Joins Air Force for 4 Yrs.

Carl E. Miller, 17, son of Mrs. Bessie Miller, 401 North Stewart, and M/Sgt. Olin Miller, now in Korea, enlisted Wednesday in the Air Force for four years. He was sent to Kansas City by M/Sgt. Brady Ray, Sedalia's Army and Air Force recruiter, who was notified Thursday of Carl's acceptance.

Carl attended Smith-Cotton High School. Until his enlistment, he worked in the shoe assembly section at Town and Country Shoes.

Bodies Are Removed From Charred Plane

MCCHORD AIR FORCE BASE, Wash. (AP)—Broken by the force of the impact and charred from the fire which followed, the bodies of 19 soldiers and two civilian fliers were taken yesterday from the wreckage of an airliner which crashed 30 miles south of here.

Didn't Read Own Signs

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP) — Lester Penny was in police court yesterday on a charge of smoking in bed. The Fire Department charged his smoking had started a blaze in a hotel room.

Asked if he knew it was against the law to smoke in bed, Penny replied:

"I'll say I do. I painted 50 signs saying it was against the law to smoke in bed. I painted them for use in hotel rooms."

Sign painter Penny was fined $25.

Women Suffer From Allergy To Cosmetics They Use Most

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Odd facts from the Oddity Almanac:

Do some beautiful women make you sneeze?

Maybe it's their face powder that does it. It is estimated that some seven million American women suffer from cosmetic allergy. Must be that many men victims too. But it was worse in the old days when many a gal powdered with cornstarch. In a tender clinch she could never be sure whether her beau was wheezing from love or sneezing because of her kitchen beauty dust. . .

Some people insist they do their best thinking while lying flat on their backs. A department store here has come up with a special thinking bed for them. It has a canopy embellished with famous portraits and great thoughts. It also has an automatic phonograph which dins ideas and information into sleeping ears, so ambitious folk can go on learning while slumbering. The same "sleep shop" formerly featured a heart-shaped bed for romantic wives and husbands. Racing fans also can buy circular beds—and chase the horses around the track in their dreams. . .

Are you neurotic? The odds are about 16-to-1 you aren't, so why worry? The best and simplest way to avoid nervous troubles is to inherit money. And do it early in life, while you can still get more enjoyment out of spending it than counting it. . .But if you must fret about something, fret about the motor car. It now takes a toll equal to the combined deaths from flu, ulcers, polio, war casualties and the contagious diseases of childhood. . .

Jobs - we'd - all - like - to - have Department: Stan Anderson is inspector of doughnut holes for the Doughnut Corp. of America. He measures to see they are now only a quarter inch across instead of three-eighths of an inch, the old standard. The industry is also launching a new midget or "small fry" doughnut the size of a four-bit piece. Progress never halts in this restless, ever-changing field.

Where does your money go? The Tax Outlook Magazine says a fellow earning $4,500 a year now spends 2 hours and 40 minutes out of each 8-hour working day just to earn enough to pay his taxes, only an hour and 36 minutes for his food bills. But the high cost of red tape isn't the villain. The federal government spent only $4,700 for red tape last year to tie up documents. . . .

Almanac health note: Some doctors believe that victims of heart trouble and high blood pressure may shorten their lives by habitually taking bicarbonate of soda and water to relieve stomach distress . . . The safest form of exercise after 40 is going to the funerals of other people over 40 who insist on taking too much exercise. . . .

What do you know about fathers? Dad is younger and taller today... The average age of a first time father was 28.1 in 1890—but 24.7 in 1949...The modern dad has 3.2 children as compared to 8 for the average father in 1800...In terms of occupations, farmer fathers lead... It is estimated American families spent 250 million dollars for Mother's Day gifts, only 150 millions for dad on his day...But that's the way dad wants it...

Ever yearn to have a book dedicated to you? Well, it's no avenue to fame. Dale Carnegie dedicated his famous best-seller, "How to Win Friends and Influence People" to a fellow popular author, Homer Croy..."The book sold over three million copies," recalls Croy wryly, "but only four persons ever mentioned the dedication to me—and one of them wanted to borrow money."...

The Almanac's regular long-range weather forecast: All present signs indicate that the current widespread heat wave will subside, in most parts of the nation, with the arrival of the first killing frost.

Arms Smugglers Move

SINGAPORE (AP)—The Sunday Standard, in an article, calls Hong Kong the new headquarters for arms smugglers operating in the Southeast Asia. The smugglers shifted there from Singapore to be nearer the markets — Vietminh forces fighting the French in Indochina and the Nationalist guerillas resisting in Yunnan province — the paper said.

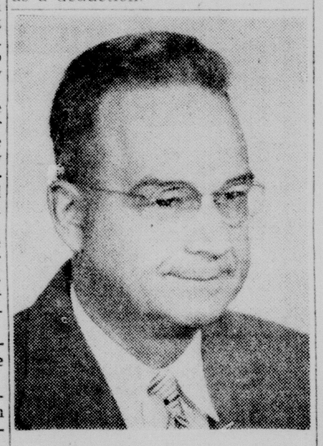

The paper also said after the war large quantities of American arms were left behind in the Philippines and in numerous islands all over the South Pacific. Hostilities in Indochina and Burma and unrest in Thailand created a constant demand for arms and Singapore, being nearest to these countries, acted as the smugglers' former headquarters.

Skunks Tax Cafe

JONESBORO, Tenn. (AP)—Cafe owner Harry Byrd aims to find out how the federal Internal Revenue Dept. stands on skunks.

Some of the critters set up their housekeeping under the floor of Byrd's Cafe. He called police who routed them with gas grenades. But the cafe was closed for more than a week and customers were reluctant to return for longer than that.

Now it's all written down for presentation to the tax collector as a deduction.

DEMONSTRATES LIQUID OXYGEN — H. M. Steininger, superintendent of the laboratory at Standard Oil of Indiana's Sugar Creek refinery, will demonstrate the unusual properties of liquid oxygen to members of the Central Missouri Oil Men's Club at their dinner meeting at the Bothwell Hotel Sept. 11. Widely known for his research in this field, Steininger will discuss the manufacture and storage of liquid air and tell how it is used in petroleum refining processes. K. A. Buchholtz, newly elected president of the group, will preside.

Personal
To Women With Nagging Backache

Nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness may be due to slow-down of kidney function. Doctors say good kidney function is very important to good health. When some everyday condition, such as stress and strain, causes this important function to slow down, many folks suffer nagging backache—feel miserable. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages.

Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. It's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

THRESHER OUT OF THE PAST—It might resemble an ancient train chugging along at full speed, but it's only an old steam-powered threshing machine owned by Arthur Flack, of Alpha, Ill. Flack said he bought the machine just "for some fun," but he's been able to thresh 37 acres of oats on his 160-acre farm without any trouble. He also made a hit with his neighbors, who flocked to his farm when they saw the dark pillars of smoke rise skyward.

Divining Rods Work

KANKAKEE, Ill. (AP) — Children have discovered a new pastime. It's finding buried pipes with homemade "divining rods" made from coat hangers. They hold two coat hanger rods in front of them and walk slowly around their home. When they come to a buried pipe the two wires slowly are pulled together and cross over the spot where the pipe is buried.

It has something to do with electro - magnetic action. But the children don't care about any high-flown scientific principles, it's just plain fun.

Smith-Cotton Dresses Out 52 Players; Start Workouts On Pavement-like Gridiron

Fifty-two candidates have been issued football equipment by the coach, Ralph "Stub" Dow, for the 1953 edition of the Smith-Cotton Tigers football team. Tuesday 44, Wednesday 50 of the players were back for practice. The other eight still having jobs, elected to work until the last of the week and will be out in full force the coming week.

Monday found several of the boys feeling ill after the brief workout in the hot sun. But on Tuesday these boys seemed to have weathered the heat and came back feeling better. Coach Dow is working the boys lightly at the present time, getting them conditioned rather than to go into a stiff practice season.

"It will take about two weeks to get the boys in condition," and only a few hours to get them sharpened up on their plays. The lads are very alert this year and ready to tear into things. They are anxious to give us a good team," Dow remarked in discussing the morale of the boys reporting for practice.

Nine lettermen are working out of the "A" group: Benny Walter, Phillip Wulff, Darrel Ford, Lanny Crouch, Bennie Neal, "Buck" Bennett, Bobby Case, Larry Lynch and Elroy Burton.

There are still five "A" lettermen eligible: Jodie Reine, Marvin Bohon, Jimmy Schmidt, Melvin Jones and Gilbert Roberts. These boys were reported still on their summer vacation jobs.

Dow had the "crying towel" out over the loss of one player in Ernie Deuel, whose parents have moved to Kansas City. Deuel was one of Dow's mainstays in the '52 season. He reported the material now working isn't too bad and he is looking over several young players who may slip into the slots of the players lost by graduation or leaving town, without too much trouble.

Dow reported there are 12 "B" team lettermen back, all of whom gave a good account of themselves last season. From this group he is expecting to gain some experienced material, while some of the "greener" boys, although not put under pressure yet, show signs of whipping into stiff competition for varsity berths.

Richard "Buck" Bennett will probably be called upon for quarterback position and Bobby Case will also work in the backfield and no doubt will be doing some calling for the Tigers.

Coach Dow is keeping a sharp eye on the boys before giving any definite assignments. He has some fairly good material in the "B" group, which in the overall picture should shape the Tigers up into a strong contending team in the Central Missouri Conference.

Neither Dow nor his assistants, Howard Glavin, Robert "Bob" Edmondson and Richard "Pete" Brown, are laying any claims to titles in the conference this season. About the only commitments being made are that the Tigers will be tough and expect to be among the leaders.

Smith-Cotton opens the season on Friday, Sept. 18 at Boonville against Kemper and returns to Sedalia for the first home game with Joplin on Friday, Sept. 25. The home game opener will also be the dedication of the new Jennie Jaynes Lewis Memorial stadium and gridiron.

Haddix Might Barely Miss Rookie Honors

NEW YORK (AP)—Just two innings might prevent Harvey Haddix, sensational young left-hander of the St. Louis Cardinals, from winning "Rookie of the Year" honors in the National League this year.

Haddix joined the Cards last August, following a two-year hitch in the Army and pitched 42 innings. That was two more than the amount of innings a hurler can work and still be classified a rookie the following year. The unoffocial rule is that a pitcher must hurl 40 or less innings.

Haddix appeared in seven games starting six, while completing three for a 2-2 record last year. Prior to that the 27-year-old native of South Vienna, Ohio, had done all his hurling in the minors.

The little southpaw has won 16 games while losing only 7 this year, and has turned in 13 complete games. Four of his victories have been shutouts. His 115 strike outs rank fourth behind Robin Roberts of the Philadelphia Phillies.

Unless the Baseball Writers Association of America undergoes a change of heart, Haddix is due to be left out in the cold—all because of the two extra innings he pitched last year.

The elimination of Haddix would leave the field open to either second baseman Jim (Junior) Gilliam of the Brooklyn Dodgers or pitcher Ruben Gomez of the New York Giants. Those two look like the best of the 1953 class of freshman.

British Hope To Win Walker Cup 2nd Time

MARION, Mass. (AP)—A brisk, cooling wind from Buzzard's Bay blew across the Kittansett golf course today and raised British hopes of winning the Walker Cup for the second time.

Only once since the international amateur golf competition was inaugurated in 1922 has Great Britain come out ahead. And the United States again is favored in the 1953 match tomorrow and Saturday.

But after a few days of practice on the narrow seaside course, the British players have acquired an air of optimism that indicates they really think they can win.

Each Walker Cup "match" consists of four foursomes, with partners playing alternate strokes with a single ball, and eight singles matches. Each counts for one point, and ties disregarded. All are at 36 holes. The foursomes will be played Friday and the singles Saturday.

Although conditions apparently favor the Britons, the American players have scored surprisingly well over the difficult 6,545-yard Kittansett course. Charlie Coe, the Oklahoma thin man who won the U. S. amateur championship in 1949, fired a 68 yesterday. The team's "babies," Ken Venturi of San Francisco and Gene Littler of San Diego, Calif., also have damaged the par of 35-35—70 and so has Rochester's Sammy Urzetta, the 1950 champion.

Yesterday's Games—

Milwaukee, Allie Both Bother Bums

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Sports Writer

The Brooklyn Dodgers nursed a double-barreled headache today—the Milwaukee Braves and Allie Reynolds.

The pesky Braves, who apparently refuse to believe what they read in the papers about the Dodgers being a shoo-in for the flag, are causing the immediate difficulty. The Big Chief of the New York Yankees poses a problem the Dodgers will have to deal with later this month, assuming they solve the Milwaukee trouble.

Like a lot of headaches, this one stems from what happened last night.

The Braves tripped the Dodgers 9-8 in Brooklyn, giving them a 5-5 split at Ebbets Field so far this year. No other club has come close to breaking even against the Dodgers in Brooklyn.

The loss cut Brooklyn's lead to 10 games with 22 to play, 3 more against Milwaukee.

Reynolds, regarded by many as the key to the Yankees' World Series hopes, made his third start since the end of June and pitched eight excellent innings in beating St. Louis 9-1. This was only his fourth success in a starting role this season although he's won 11 games.

Plagued by ineffectiveness and injuries in recent weeks, Reynolds appeared fully recovered on both counts.

Reynolds' World Series record against the Dodgers shows four victories and one defeat in three years. He pitched in four of the 1952 series games, winning two and losing one.

Although they won, the Yankees didn't add to their 9½-game lead since second-place Chicago and third-place Cleveland also triumphed. The White Sox beat Washington 7-3, Cleveland defeated Philadelphia 6-3 and Boston whipped Detroit 5-2.

In the National league, Robin Roberts of Philadelphia failed to win his 22nd game, bowing to the St. Louis Cardinals 10-7. Pittsburgh beat Chicago 8-1 and New York shaded Cincinnati 4-3.

Rookie Jim Pendleton paced the Milwaukee attack with four hits as the Braves came from five runs behind in beating Brooklyn.

The Cardinals exploded for six runs in the seventh inning at Philadelphia, including a three-run homer by Ray Jablonski and a bases empty blast by Steve Bilbo.

Preston Ward hit a grand slam home run and drove in six tallies for Pittsburgh against his former Chicago teammates.

Ruben Gomez, a pitcher who bought his way out of the Yankee farm system last season, won his 13th game for the Giants in beating Cincinnati. The Puerto Rican rookie is the biggest wniner on the Giants staff.

The Athletics routed Bob Lemon with three runs in the first inning at Cleveland but Art Houtteman stopped them cold the rest of the way. Wally Westlake homered twice for the Indians.

Durando Draws A Draw With Favored Sandy

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Ernie Durando of Bayonne, N. J., figures he's back in shape now after fighting a draw with favored Randy Sandy of New York in a 10-round middleweight match last night.

Durando weighed 153 to 149½ for Sandy.

There were no knockdowns in the fight, but both boys were cut in the action. Sandy lost a possible chance to win the match in the fourth when Referee Dick Young penalized him for two low blows and gave the round to Durando by a 7-3 margin.

Young scored it a 50-50 draw. Judge Fred Connell awarded the decision to Durando 52-48, but Judge Gene Farrell scored it for Sandy 51-49. The Associated Press had Durando winning 51-49.

The fight was scored on a point system under Missouri boxing rules with the two judges and the referee splitting 10 points a round between the fighters.

Vic Seixas Gets Major Test Today

FOREST HILLS, N. Y. (AP)—Wimbledon titleholder Vic Seixas gets his first major test in the National Tennis Championships today when he faces a supremely confident Billy Talbert in a fourth-round match.

After breezing to another easy victory yesterday, the 34-year-old Talbert was asked if he thought he could take the top-seeded domestic favorite.

"Why not?" Talbert replied bluntly.

"If my passing shots are working as well as in the last two matches, I should have a very good chance."

This featured match between old antagonists was the second on today's stadium program.

Here are the other round of 16 pairings:

Top bracket—Kurt Nielsen, Denmark, vs. Fred Kovaleski, Washington, D. C.; Gardnar Mulloy, Coral Gables, Fla. vs. Torben Ulrich, Denmark; Lewis Hoad, Australia, vs. Hamilton Richardson, Baton Rouge, La.

Lower bracket—Tony Trabert, Cincinnati, vs. Ian Ayre, Australia; Budge Patty, Los Angeles, vs. Mervyn Rose, Australia; Art Larsen, San Leandro, Calif., vs. Sven Davidson, Sweden; Ken Rosewall, Australia, vs. Tom Brown Jr., San Francisco.

Of these, only Kovaleski, a tall, dark-haired Defense Department worker, is an outsider. All other favorites prevailed in yesterday's 16-match session in 100-degree heat.

The 27-year-old Kovaleski, a former public parks champion from Hamtramck, Mich., won a marathon duel with Straight Clark of Pasadena, Calif., seeded No. 6. The score of the match, finished in semidarkness, was 6-3, 9-11, 7-5, 7-5.

Kovaleski's hopes of a ranking in the top 10 undergo a strain in today's match with Nielsen, the stapping, mustachioed Dane who won the U. S. indoor championship last winter. Nielsen was forced five sets yesterday by Andy Paton of Ann Arbor, Mich., 2-6, 6-3, 6-4, 2-6, 6-4.

Talbert, unseeded for the first time in 13 years and with an eye on the Davis Cup captaincy, is playing tennis with a vengeance that shows. He is anxious to impress the tennis brass.

In the second round the slim New York broker upset the highly rated Rex Hartwig of Australia and yesterday he swept past Bill Quillian of Seattle 6-2, 6-3, 6-3.

"I'm playing well but Seixas is different," Talbert said. "He keeps pressure on you all the time."

Seixas, his net game not as sharp as usual, had to go four sets to beat Grant Golden of Wilmette, Ill., 6-2, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3.

While the men are going into the quarter-finals, the women get only halfway there today with matches confined to the upper bracket. Maureen Connolly of San Diego, Calif., seeking her third straight crown, plays Jeanne Arth of St. Paul, Minn., while Mrs. Margaret Osborne du Pont, the comebacking ex-titlist, meets Angela Mortimer, England's Wightman Cupper.

Penn Quakers Have Roughest Grid Schedule

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The University of Pennsylvania's football Quakers, minus a really outstanding star, tackle the toughest schedule in the school's history this year.

And for the first time in his 16 seasons of coaching, balding, bespectacled George Munger may know what it is to have his team lose more games than it wins.

After the Sept. 26 starting date with Vanderbilt, come Penn State, California, Ohio State, Navy, Michigan, Notre Dame, Army and Cornell.

Munger isn't pessimistic about the whole thing. His major complaint is this: Penn has followed the regulations of the Ivy League since the early '30s.

Munger now complains that he should be able to prepare his team on the same footing as his non-Ivy opponents—that is, have spring training.

But he started drilling his team only two days ago, 25 days before the opener.

Munger has a team of veterans of last year's club which beat four Ivy League opponents but lost to Penn State, Georgia, and Army and tied Notre Dame and Navy.

It's a team which will operate out of the modified single wing, utilizing a lot of weak side smashes by the fullback, strong side end sweeps and off-tackle thrusts by the trailback and a moderate portion of passing. Occasionally, for variety the team may run out of the T-formation.

Eighteen seniors are on hand to bolster George's morale. But there's a hitch. All of these boys have been one-platooners, specialists in either offensive or defensive play. Whether they can master two-way play in 25 days is a big question.

Outstanding in this group are: Ed Binkoski, an intelligent signal-caller who shows signs of development as a passer; Chet Cornog, a hustling tailback who can run and pass brilliantly on occasions, and Joe Varaitis, a lumbering but ground-gaining fullback.

Reynolds Warms Up For Series, Trims Brownies

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It isn't World Series time yet but a preview of things to come was in evidence at Bush Stadium last night as Big Chief Allie Reynolds tuned up for a possible Series starting role for the New York Yankees.

Reynolds, who has been handling bull pen chores for the league-leading Bombers, made his second start in about two months and easily drubbed the St. Louis Browns, 9-1, despite a triple play by the Brownies.

That was about all the Browns could claim as Reynolds hurled a four-hitter. He fanned six and walked only one. The win allowed the New Yorkers to keep their 9½ game lead over the Chicago White Sox.

The triple play, fifth in the majors this season, came in the fourth when Gene Woodling smashed a line drive to Bobby Young at second base.

Young tossed to Bill Hunter to retire Yogi Berra, who tried to get back to second base, and the ball was relayed to first baseman Dick Kryhoski in time to retire Mickey Mantle.

The Browns' only run was unearned.

In Philadelphia, the Cardinals came up with six runs in the seventh inning to tumble Robin Roberts and the Phillies, 10-7. A three-run homer by Ray Jablonski and a bases-empty home run by Steve Bilko sparked the rally.

It was the 20th homer for Jablonski and set a new mark for a Cardinal rookie—one more than Johnny Mize had in 1936, his freshman year with the club.

Leaders, Stars Meet Friday In Second Tilt

The Sealia All Stars will attempt to even the city softball championship series with the Schlitz Leaders at Housel Park Friday at 8 p.m. when the two teams tangle in the second game of the three game set.

The Leaders blasted the Stars in the initial play-off contest by a 9-4 count. Another Leader victory would ice the title.

Tom Sanders fanned 18 Star batsmen in hurling the win. However, he was unable to silence the Star bats as he has other teams in the area this season. Sanders was touched for eight hits, including a circuit clout by Schroder and three hits by Miller.

John Swisher and Cliff Barr walloped four-baggers to pace the Leaders' 13-hit assault on Star pitchers Elwell and Morton.

Balance of Power in East Swings To Pittsburgh, Navy, Independents

Discount Ivies, Says Caldwell; Villanova Good

By MURRAY OLDERMAN
NEA Staff Correspondent

PRINCETON, N. J. — Take Princeton Charley Caldwell's word for it and "forget about the Ivy League this year."

The balance of power in eastern football swings to the independents, which brings us immediately to Pittsburgh.

This is the kind of club the late Jack Sutherland would have reveled in—rangy and rugged at the ends and tackles for the power thrusts, led by All-America tackle Eldred Kraemer, with a low-slung fullback in Bobby Epps.

Abolition of platoons has created backfield problems. It made a juggler of Red Dawson. Now if he could only juggle that schedule to dispose of such as West Virginia, Oklahoma, Notre Dame and Minnesota.

Navy, you hear (from West Point, of course), is loaded. Like Pitt, the Middies have it in the line with All-America guard Steve Eisenhauer, should be great defensively.

Villanova, however, features the most potent ground game in the east and maybe the nation as Gene Filipski heads a lightning backfield fronted by a mobile, 213-pound line. If the 'Cats could handle Georgia and Texas, the schedule starters, they'd be a national power.

Penn State, likewise gets ambitious by taking on Wisconsin in the opener, Texas Christian in mid-season. End Jesse Arnelle is a standout. If quarterback and pitcher Tony Rados takes kindly to a spring knee operation, the boys from State College could swoop down from the hills to dominate the east.

Despite Caldwell's admonition, let's not dismiss the Ivies altogether. Princeton has a great fullback in Home Smith, top tackles in George Kovatch and Pete Milano and an accommodating schedule.

Yale, we figure, is the best long shot to go undefeated. Virtually the same team that made Jordan Olivar's debut little short of phenomenal last year is back, led by quarterback Ed Mololy.

Penn is beset by troubles, mostly because of the caliber of opposition — i.e., Ohio State, Notre Dame, California, Michigan. In the Ivy class, Walt Hynoski and Joe Varaitis are outstanding backs.

Army is still on the way back, slowed temporarily by the platoon rule change. The Kaydets come up with a great lineman in Bob Farhis, ex-Vanderbilt center, and an outstanding runner in Fred Attaya, shifted from half to full.

Syracuse, numbed by Alabama in the Orange Bowl, ironically expects a stronger team this season, with extra help coming from former Army back Vince Vergara and ex-Navy linebacker Teddy Kukowski.

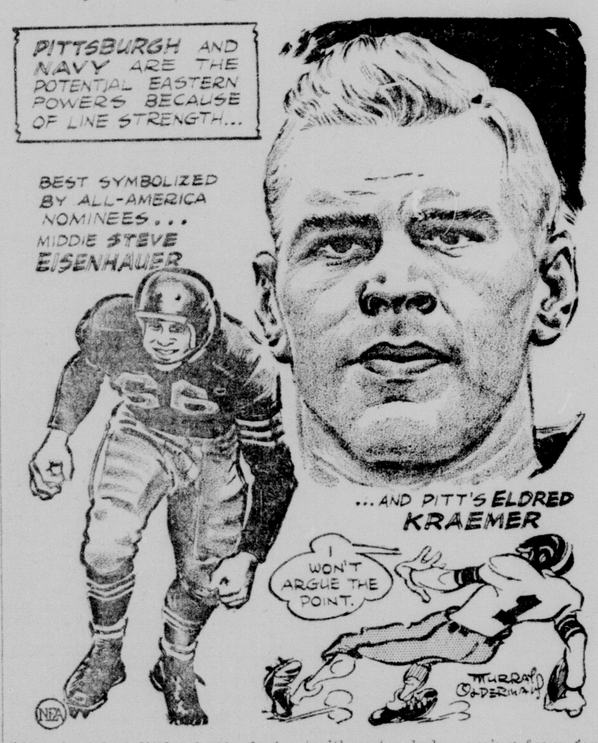

Ed Danowski sees one-platoon football as a boon to Fordham, which expects bigger crowds at the Polo Grounds. Holy Cross and Boston College are openly optimistic.

Cornell's wishful. Harvard, Columbia and Dartmouth are less than that.

Celebrities Golf Play Underway

WASHINGTON (AP)—A hundred of the nation's top golfers get going today in the national celebrities open golf tournament, which promises to be the hottest of the year.

Hottest, that is, because of the weather. It's supposed to be in the neighborhood of 100 in Washington for at least the first three days of the tournament, which runs through Sunday.

The bravest of the tourney entrants shot a practice round over the 7,019-yard Woodmont country club course yesterday, but most of the pros decided to save themselves for the regulation play.

Jimmy Demaret, who won the celebrities tourney last year, gave up after two holes of practice.

The pros have things all to themselves today and tomorrow, but they'll share the spotlight Saturday and Sunday with some of the best known duffers in the country, including Vice President Nixon and comedian Bob Hope.

The Washington Post, which sponsors the tournament, will have $15,000 in prizes for the pros and a handsome cup for the victorious celebrity. Proceeds go to combat juvenile delinquency.

Lee Worsham and Sam Snead ruled as co-favorites for the tournament, since Ben Hogan and Lloyd Mangrum were sitting this one out.

A ferret is an albino, domesticated variety of polecat.

Kansas State Is Optimistic Over Prospect

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The football practice season isn't a week old yet, but the Kansas State Wildcats already are a bit more optimistic about their chances in the Big Seven Conference.

They've been the conference's cellar team for a decade.

However, Coach Bill Meek feels his squad is the best looking the school has had in tthree years. After yesterday's practice he commented on the squad's spirit and said he felt the players were shaping up well.

The switch from the two platoon to the one platoon system should help K-State which has had to draw on some players for both offensive and defensive work. Among the returning lettermen is Veryl (Joe) Switzer, a top-notch back who played both ways last year.

Meek has indicated the weakness in his line may be at the ends. However, the squad has been bolstered by four husky ends who transferred to Kansas State from junior colleges.

Yesterday's practice was topped by a 40-minute scrimmage.

Several other Big Seven squads also scrimmaged.

The Kansas Jayhawks held their first scrimmage, emphasizing defense in a morning session and offense in the afternoon. Coach Jules Sikes commended the running of backs Ralph Moody, Larry Carrier and Bob Allison, all sophomores.

At Colorado, where scrimmage also was held, Coach Dal Ward said he felt the rough work was needed to get the squad in shape for its opener Sept. 19 against Washington at Seattle.

At Iowa State junior tackle Ralph Brown pulled a leg muscle and will be out for about four days. It was the first injury on the squad since practice started.

Nebraska found another player and Missouri lost one. Stan Matzke, a Nebraska basketball player and track letterman who is a 6-foot-2-inch junior, came out for football. He's after an end position. At Missouri Gail Kroenke, a fullback, dropped off the squad.

Standard Gasolines, tested in desert heat to assure

NO VAPOR LOCK!

In summer some gasolines actually "boil." Your engine chokes, sputters, goes dead. You're a victim of vapor lock. But not if you use Standard Gasolines. On the hot Mojave Desert, Standard scientists tested hundreds of blends of gasolines. They studied the cause—certain extra-light molecules. And they found the cure—remove them from summer gasoline and save them for fast-starting winter gas. From these tests come Standard's great no-vapor-lock summer gasolines.

Standard gasolines have been tested under torrid desert conditions to assure you trouble-free summer performance. Only Standard says, "NOW—no vapor lock!" No vapor lock . . . on top of octane ratings that match your car's requirements...on top of catalytically-cracked gasolines perfectly blended and balanced to give you the best possible combination of pick-up, power and mileage. And wherever you drive in the Midwest, you'll find the same improved and guarded quality. You'll find, too, the famous SERVICE that car owners describe as the finest treatment they get anywhere. Try STANDARD WHITE CROWN Premium or STANDARD RED CROWN Gasoline. Your first hot-day drive will prove that YOU CAN EXPECT MORE FROM STANDARD . . . AND GET IT!

STANDARD

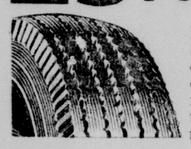

Standard Gasolines can't be beat in summer heat!

CIRCUIT COURT FOR THE COUNTY OF PETTIS, STATE OF MISSOURI

Jess Herrman and Jim Owen d/b/a Herrman Lumber Company Plaintiffs vs.
Max W. Riecke and Gladys Riecke Defendants

No. 24982

Order of Publication of Notice

The State of Missouri to Defendants, named above you are hereby notified that an action has been commenced against you in the Circuit Court for the County of Pettis, Missouri, the object and general nature of which is to establish a mechanics lein for materials furnished on the following described property and which effects the following described property:

Certain improvements to buildings owned by Max W. Riecke and Gladys Riecke being the East 53 acres of the West 113 acres of the Southeast (SE¼) of Section 6, Township 43, Range 23, Pettis County, Missouri. A lien is claimed upon three brooder houses approximately 50 by 180 feet long located on the above property. Said lein is claimed upon said brooder houses and the land where the brooder houses are located.

The names of all the parties to said suit are stated above in the caption hereof and the names and addresses of attorneys for plaintiff are Poague, Poague and Brock, Suite 8, Poague Building, Clinton, Missouri.

You are further notified that, unless you file an answer or other pleading or shall otherwise appear and defend against aforesaid petition within 45 days after the 13th day of August, 1953, judgment by default will be rendered against you.

It is ordered that a copy hereof be published according to law in the Democrat, a newspaper of general circulation published in the County of Pettis, State of Missouri.

A true copy from the record.

Witness my hand and the seal of the Circuit court this 3rd day of August, 1953.

BRYAN HOWE,
Circuit Clerk.
By LILLIAN RAGES BARRICK,
Deputy Clerk.

Looneys Back To Kansas City Lunch Room

By Miss Cora Cordry

OTTERVILLE — Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Looney and family, who operated the D-X service station and lunch room, have gone to Kansas City and bought a lunch room they owned before coming here. Mrs. Looney's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gulick, will have charge of the business here.

Mr. and Mrs. Gulick had as visitors Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Andy Romero and children, of Colorado, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Hatfield and children, of Kansas City, Mrs. Florence Wilkin, of California, Mo., Howard Griswold, of Independence, and B. Griswold, Sedalia.

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Bryan Jr., had as guests recently, Mrs. Bryan's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Headley and family, of Emporia, Kan., and her grandmother, Mrs. Emma Headley, San Diego, Calif.

Mrs. Marie Lane had as guests recently, Mr. and Mrs. D. T. Layne, Mrs. Allan Layne and son and Mrs. Warren George and sons Bunceton.

Mrs. Grace Ripley and Miss Cora Cordry visited Friday in Pilot Grove with Mrs. Sadie Meredith and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh F. Baker and baby, of Des Moines, Ia., were here last weekend to visit Mr. Baker's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Baker. Accompanied by his mother and Judith Hansen, they went to Tulsa, Okla., Friday morning to visit his brother, Dr. and Mrs. B. B. Baker and daughters.

Miss Judy Page has returned home from Warsaw, where she spent a few weeks with her aunt, Mrs. Naomi Schroeder and family.

Mrs. Pearl Duvall, who has occupied an apartment in the home of Mrs. Hattie Stephens, moved this week to Syracuse and will have rooms with Mrs. Clara Huff.

Miss Mary Priscilla Shults, St. Louis, visited several days last week with her sister, Mrs. Lee Lewis, Mr. Lewis and son, Wayne. She has been employed to teach in the Jennings High School there.

Mrs. Pauline Spillers returned to Wichita Friday after spending two weeks here in the home of her niece, Mrs. Walter Castle, Mr. Castle and with Mrs. Carrye Spillers.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Speaker and family visited in Leeton Saturday night with Mr. Speaker's mother, Mrs. Rollie Olten and Mr. Olten. Sunday they were dinner guests of his sister, Mrs. Clarence Schaeffer and Mr. Schaeffer.

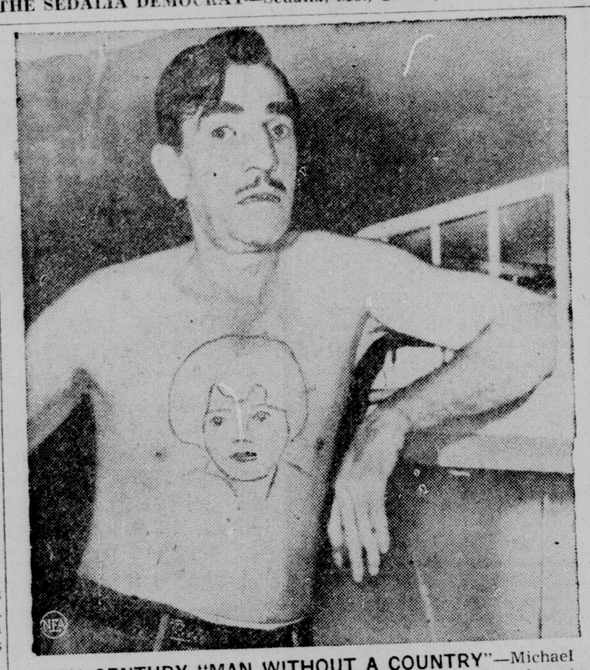

The Rev. Tatum had charge of the services at the Baptist Church Sunday and was entertained in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Asa Bishop afterwards.

Glen Young, who has been stationed at China Lake, Calif., the past two years, has received his discharge from the Marines and returned home last Friday.

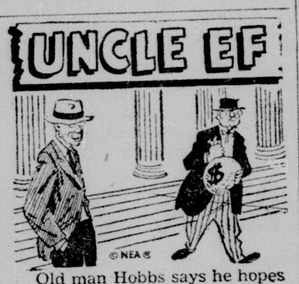

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Michaelis and family of Cleveland, Ohio, visited recently with Mr. Michael's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. J. H Gunn.

20TH CENTURY "MAN WITHOUT A COUNTRY"—Michael Patrick O'Brien, today's "man without a country," has a change in scenery in Rio de Janiero, Brazil, but he's still without a country to call his own. Previously he made some 110 consecutive trips between Hong Kong and Macao on a ferry boat, authorities refused to admit him at either port, because his papers weren't in order. Now O'Brien is a passenger aboard the French liner Bretagne, and appears to be in for another series of cruises. Brazillian authorities refuse to admit him even though he has a visa from Brazil's Hong Kong consulate. They say O'Brien is an "undesirable," and now he's confined to the ship which sails between Genoa, Italy, and Buenos Aires. He says the worst part of his life is the boredom. How long he'll be on the "shuttle tour" is hard to say.

Old man Hobbs says he hopes some day the difference will be revealed between the Republicans who talk all the time about economy but want to raise the debt limit, and the Democrats who just spent their heads off without talking about it.

German Youth To Fight Reds At Election

BONN, Germany (AP)—Four million of West Germany's youth girded today to battle Communist invaders threatening to upset their nation's crucial parliamentary elections Sunday.

Police have nabbed over 7,000 sabotage-bent toughs from the Soviet East zone, but the influx continued unabated.

A spokesman for the Bonn government announced last night that two big youth organizations have volunteered to help combat what he said was a Kremlin plot to sabotage the balloting by creating chaos. The two volunteer groups are the Federal Youth League (Bundesjugendring) and the German Sport Assn. (Deutsche Sport Und).

The government has turned up proof, the spokesman said, that the troublemakers have been ordered across the border in droves to raid voting booths, steal ballot boxes and beat up election officials. Captured agents have even confessed assassination plans, officials claimed.

Despite tight frontier checks, mass arrests and an emergency police alert throughout West Germany, thousands of the Red agents were believed to have evaded the police blocks.

The chief target of the Communists, from Moscow down through the ranks, is the Christian Democrat regime of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and its policy of cooperating with the West to build up military defenses against possible Communist aggression.

Vigorous political campaigning by 4,040 candidates for 484 seats in the lower house of Parliament was carried on without disorders yesterday.

In the Bavarian border town of Coburg, however, West German police had to use clubs to protect arrested Soviet zone terrorists from an anti-Red crowd. The jeering throng hurled rotten tomatoes and cucumbers at 400 Communist agents being marched through the streets to an interrogation center. One Red who spat at the spectators was almost lynched, officials said, and several fist fights broke out before the club-swinging police moved in.

The number of agents that may have slipped across the 600-mile frontier in unguarded areas could not be determined. But it was known that thousands had boldly tried to ride into West Germany by train, using forged travel permits. About 1,000 were arrested on a single train at the border city of Helmstedt last night, 400 more on a train out of Berlin and 656 on a train in Bebra.

West Germany's two leading political opponents—Adenauer and his Socialist rival Erich Ollenhauer—centered their campaigning today in Bonn and the densely populated key Ruhr industrial area.

RED BATTLER — Maj.-Gen. Chiang Wego, son of Chiang Kai-shek, is brushing up on his military tactics at the Army Command and Military School at Fort Leavenworth, Kan. He gave up his command of Chinese Nationalist forces on Formosa to take the course.

Pat's Throwing Arm No Good So She May Be Out of 3-D

By JAMES BACON
(For Bob Thomas)

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Patricia Medina, one of England's lovelier loans to the United States, is one actress who doesn't care if she ever makes another 3D movie.

"I'm through with 3D," she asserts. "Or rather, I should say that 3D is through with me."

Her reason is the most novel yet.

"My aim is too poor," she explains.

Much has been written about 3D but always from the audience point of view, the discomfiture of glasses and the continual ducking. Now comes Miss Medina with the first complaint, to my knowledge, from the players' side.

Patricia's last try at 3D was at Columbia, where she worked for producer Sam Katzman in "Drums of Tahiti." Katzman is a great gimmick man and it followed that his 3D picture would be loaded with gimmicks.

One of them called for Pat to pick up a cold cream jar and hurl it toward the camera, ultimately to splatter over bespectacled audiences.

"I spent a whole day grabbing that jar and throwing it. I failed miserably. Finally, the director said to skip it until the end of the picture.

"Here I was, an actress with 10 years of English and American experience behind me, winding up as a complete idiot on the set.

"It was pathetic. Some of my friends among the crew took great pains to help me. Some even cheered me on the sidelines but I was hopeless."

At the end of the shooting schedule, the director tried again.

This proved even more embarrassing to Patricia. Technicians had rigged up an elaborate cord arrangement whereby she could not possibly toss the jar out of camera range.

"This really hurt because this sort of treatment is usually reserved for child and animal actors. But even with the cord I failed. I doubt if they can salvage any of the takes for the movie.

"The director was very kind. He assured me he wasn't critical of my acting ability but hinted that I would have to improve my throwing arm if I wanted to continue in 3D."

The experience so unnerved her that when producers Bob Fellows and John Wayne wanted her for their "Plunder of the Sun," she didn't even ask about the role.

"All I wanted to know was whether it was flat or 3D. Thank heavens, it was a good old flattie."

Quickies For Labor-less Day

CANNED MEAT to Mom's rescue — quick, different, delicious.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Here's our annual contribution to Labor Day: recipes that will make the holiday Labor-Less Day for Mother. This year we have three really good tasting canned meat quickies to help Mom's kitchen liberation along.

First dish is for lovers of Southwestern cookery. Heat a one-pound can of chili con carne (with beans) and a one - pound can of tamales with chile gravy separately, according to the directions on the cans. Now stir the chile gravy into the chili con carne and turn into a serving dish. Top with the hot tamales and a quarter - to a half-cup of grated cheddar cheese. This will make three generous helpings—so just multiply the quantities to suit the number of folks you're serving.

Have ready a bowl of hot cooked rice and another of shredded Iceberg lettuce mixed with a sweet onion cut into thin strips or rings—use a red onion if you can get it. Serve each portion of chili and tamales over rice and top with a generous helping of the lettuce and onion. This way of serving is our own idea, and one always applauded. It may seem strange to you, but just try it! We borrowed the idea from the way Mexican tostados are traditionally topped with shredded lettuce. (A tostado, like the tamale, is a tortilla — but a tortilla that is fried crisp in deep fat and left flat to hold its sauce and lettuce topping.)

A first course for this menu might be another Southwestern favorite — Guacamole. This is ripe avocado mashed fine and enlivened with olive oil, lemon juice, grated onion, and if you like, diced tomatoes. Serve it as a spread for crackers. For dessert you might have fruit or fruit sherbet, with cookies or small cakes.

Our second suggestion calls for a 12 - ounce tin of luncheon meat, providing six generous slices. But this is a luncheon meat dish with a difference — it's served with panned shredded cabbage and a wonderful mustard and pickle relish sauce.

Our third easy dish is sure to be popular — corned beef hash patties broiled with fresh tomato halves and onion rings. The seasonings on the vegetables give delicious flavor to the good taste of the savory beef and potatoes.

Luncheon Meat Skillet Dinner

Ingredients: 2 quarts shredded cabbage (1 large head), ½ teaspoon salt, ½ cup water, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, one 12-ounce can luncheon meat, Relish Sauce.

Method: Put cabbage in large skillet; add salt to water and pour over cabbage. Dot with butter. Cut luncheon meat into 6 slices; place on top of cabbage. Cover with a tight fitting lid. Cook over medium heat 15 minutes. While cabbage is cooking, prepare Relish Sauce.

Relish Sauce

Ingredients: 1 tablespoon butter or margarine, 1½ teaspoons flour, 1 tablespoon prepared mustard, 1 teaspoon sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, ¼ cup water, 2 tablespoons vinegar, 1 tablespoon mayonnaise, 2 tablespoons pickle relish, ⅛ teaspoon tabasco sauce.

Method: Melt butter in saucepan over low heat. Remove from heat; blend in flour, prepared mustard, sugar and salt. Stir in water and vinegar and return to medium heat. Cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and comes to a boil. Remove from heat; stir in mayonnaise, pickle relish and tabasco sauce. Serve hot with luncheon meat and cabbage. Skillet may be used as serving dish. Makes 4 servings.

Corned Beef Hash Grill

Ingredients: One 1-pound can corned beef hash, 2 medium-size tomatoes, 4 onion slices, ¼ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, ¼ teaspoon sugar, ¼ teaspoon basil, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine.

Method: Open can of corned beef hash at both ends to remove in one piece. Cut into 4 slices. Halve tomatoes. Place corned beef hash patties on baking sheet, place under broiler; broil until browned on top. Turn patties; top each with a tomato half. Sprinkle with half the salt, pepper, sugar and basil; dot with 1 tablespoon of the butter. Place onion slices on top; sprinkle with remaining seasonings and dot with butter. Broil about 10 minutes or until heated through and onions are flecked with brown. Makes 4 servings.

Marilyn Disproves Old Adage About Girls Wearing Specs

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—It's time for a final burial of Dorothy Parker's old couplet, "Men seldom make passes at girls who wear glasses."

Marilyn Maxwell is just the girl to do it. The well-built blonde even posed for cheesecake to prove that glasses don't detract from a girl's attraction for the opposite sex.

Marilyn wears glasses for a very sensible reason: She says she's "blind as a bat" without them. "My brother could be sitting in the booth over there," she remarked, pointing across the Brown Derby aisle, "and I wouldn't recognize him without my glasses."

On her, glasses look good. And what's more, they don't seem to keep off the wolves.

"I wear glasses wherever I go," she remarked, "and they've never seemed to stop men from making passes."

Marilyn's eye troubles stem back to the time she was 14. "My vision was okay until then," she related. "I think it might have gone bad because I started working in night clubs. I had to catch up on my school work in whatever I used for a dressing room and usually the lighting was bad to read by.

"Also, they used bright baby spotlights in those places. That plus the smoke didn't help my eyes any."

Whatever the cause, she now has myopia in one eye and astigmatism in the other. She always keeps four pairs of glasses—two dark and two clear—in case she loses one. And she always wears them except when she is performing.

"When I'm doing a stage show, it isn't bad," she said. "The audience is like a fourth wall; I don't need to see them. As long as I can hear the laughter and applause, I know I'm doing okay.

"It used to be hard at MGM because I couldn't see the chalk marks on the floor that showed where I was supposed to stand. So the boys worked up a system for Esther Williams and me—she can't see either. They put a couple of small boards on the floor. When our feet hit them, we stopped."

Marilyn trid to emancipate herself from glasses, but it didn't work. When she was first at MGM, producer Arthur Freed stopped her on a studio street.

"You shouldn't wear those glasses," he scolded. "It isn't glamorous."

Always eager to please, Marilyn tried going without them for a while. Nothing but trouble. She walked into doors, tripped over curbs and stepped on dogs. Worst of all, she would walk right past her friends and influential producers without a word.

When the word got back to her that she was snubbing her pals and offending bosses, she said to heck with glamor and put her spectacles back on. It hasn't seemed to hurt her glamor one whit.

Centennial Histories In Rare Collection

Missourians joined the rest of America in celebrating the greatest Fourth of July holiday of them all — the Centennial Fourth of 1876. Among other observances, many counties throughout the United States published centennial histories. Those on Missouri counties are rare and valuable items today.

Five of these rare histories in pamphlet form are now in the library of the State Historical Society of Missouri at Columbia, with the counties of Lafayette, Iron, Newton, Benton and Cooper represented in the collection. They range in size from 11 to 231 pages. Also in the historical library is resented in the collection. They tory of Pike County. The Society is anxious to obtain another of these pamphlets, on Howell County, which is known to have been printed.

Congress had passed a resolution early in 1876 urging that the counties and towns of the nation compile local histories up to that date and file copies in the county clerk's office and in the Library of Congress in Washington. Records in the Congressional Library show that 13 centennial histories from Missouri were deposited there that year, some in the form of newspaper clippings or in manuscript. Only six remain there today, four in pamphlet form.

Many of these histories were read by Fourth of July orators before Missouri audiences at community picnics celebrating the nation's 100th Independence Day.

Thousands Remain Late on Cool Beaches

CHICAGO (AP) — Sweltering thousands ignored the 11 p. m. closing order at beaches and parks last night and sought relief from the heat. Flies and mosquitoes plagued them, but thousands remained throughout the night hopeful of getting sleep—and cool breezes off Lake Michigan.

Night time temperatures were in the low 80's after a record breaking 101 yesterday.

Cake for a Labor Day Picnic

BANANA SPICE CAKE with a broiled-on frosting for picnics.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

What's on the schedule for Labor - Day weekend? Is it a picnic you're going on? Then here's a special Take - Along Banana Spice Cake to which all our taste-testers gave high rating. The cake is frosted and cooled right in the pan; then it may be covered with foil and put in the picnic basket. It's a moist, fine - textured and delightfully flavored dessert, and the frosting adds just the right sweetness. Evaporated milk is used in both the cake and the frosting; you might also want to take along a small can of the milk for coffee. In that case, don't forget the opener.

Take-Along Banana Spice Cake

Ingredients: 1¾ cups sifted flour, 1 teaspoon baking soda, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ½ teaspoon cloves, ¼ teaspoon nutmeg, 2-3 cup mashed ripe banana (about 1½ medium bananas), ½ cup butter or margarine, 1 cup sugar, 1 egg, 2-3 cup evaporated milk (undiluted), 2 tablespoons lemon juice.

Method: Sift together the flour, baking soda, salt, cinnamon, cloves and nutmeg. Slice bananas into a small bowl; mash fine (so there are no lumps) with fork. Measure; there should be 2-3 cup. Cream butter and sugar; beat in egg well. Stir lemon juice into milk. Add dry ingredients alternately with soured milk to creamed mixture; begin and end with dry ingredients. Stir only until combined each time; do not overbeat. Mix in banana thoroughly. Turn into greased 9 by 9 by 2 inch baking pan. Bake in moderate (350F) oven until a cake tester inserted in center comes out clean — 40 to 45 minutes. Remove cake from oven to cooling rack. Prepare Broiled Frosting mixture; spread on cake; place under broiler until mixture is bubbly. It takes but a minute or two generally for frosting to broil, so watch cake carefully and do not scorch. Remove from broiler and cool in pan on cooling rack. Makes 9 to 12 servings.

Broiled Frosting

Ingredients: ½ cup chopped blanched almonds, 3 tablespoons butter or margarine, ½ cup firmly packed brown sugar, 1 tablespoon evaporated milk.

Method: Spread almonds in shallow pan and brown lightly under broiler. Melt butter in small sauce pan; mix in toasted almonds, sugar and milk. Spread on baked banana spice cake and broil as directed above.

Cattle Menu: Green Leaves

By Mrs. Herbert Hansen

LINCOLN — The menu of farm animals, in these parts, is being enriched by the addition of tree leaves. One farmer was heard to say that he has been chopping down three elm trees for his cows each morning for several days and reports that they consume the green foliage with great pleasure.

Mr. and Mrs. Freddie Lynch and infant son, Donald Wayne, Kansas City, spent several days with their parents, Dr. and Mrs. H. B. Lynch and Shirley and their brother, Charles, home on leave. Donald is the Lynch's grandchild and this was his first visit here.

Some of the ladies of this vicinity have revived the old time quilting parties. Mrs. Fred Kreuger and Mrs. Levi Claycomb helped Mrs. Lola Foster quilt last Wednesday and Thursday they quilted for Miss Maude Downing.

Mrs. Foster will be hostess at the regular quilting party Thursday. The dozen women will have a pot luck dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. John Steele, Bolivar, were recent guests of Charley Carpenter and Mrs. Carpenter.

Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Poague and children, Hickman Mills, recently visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Hughes and Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Poague.

According to letters received here from Billie McFarland, who has been in Korea for several months, he expects to return home in the very near future. He is not only anxious to see his parents and wife but is overly so to make the acquaintance of his baby daughter, Kathy, who he knows only through letters and photographs.

Connie McFarland, Kansas City, spent several days with relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Hare had as dinner guests at their home Friday Mrs. Hare's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charley Carpenter and Glenn and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bowman and son, Red Hook, N. Y. Mrs. Bowman is a former resident of this community. Friday was the sixth birthday of David Hare and as a special surprise that afternoon his mother invited the youngsters of the immediate neighborhood in for refreshments. Guests were: Lane Henry, Douglas McCubbin, Billie Rife, Ronnie Eken, Ralph Bowman, David and Michael Hare.

Cottage cheese is also called Dutch cheese because they were the first to make it, in cottages and small houses.

NOW— with this can here to help you, why "launder" your dishes?

Nobody hangs dishes on a washline. But if you did, you'd see your week's dishes are a bigger job than your weekly laundry. A job this big deserves a special product designed for dishwashing—not a strong powder intended for getting dirt out of clothes. And your hands deserve it, too.

Packed in a can as it should be— with a dripless spout

Won't break like a bottle. Won't get soggy or take up room like a box. And the dripless spout keeps the liquid from dripping down the side of the can.

Washing powders are great for laundering dirty clothes but dishes aren't clothes. This new Lux Liquid Detergent is especially designed for dishwashing. One canful of this new Lux Liquid Detergent will wash more dishes than several boxes of the most popular laundry powder... And Lux Liquid Detergent is almost as mild as Lux Toilet Soap.

JUDGING from the way this new Lux Liquid Detergent is selling, an awful lot of women have stopped "laundering" their dishes with laundry powder.

Here's why: this can in your kitchen is the next best thing to a dishwashing machine.

Lux Liquid Detergent literally soaks dishes clean. Gets between the clinging grease and the dish. Dissolves the grease. For fast, efficient dishwashing—with or without wiping—no powder can touch it.

It's pre-dissolved. It smells wonderful. And it's almost as mild as Lux Toilet Soap.

Yet for what it does, Lux Liquid Detergent costs less than ANY leading soap or detergent.

Will you try it? There's a money-back Lever Brothers guarantee, of course. But we really believe you'll love it.

LEVER BROTHERS

Patrol Warns Of Labor Day On Highways

The State Highway Patrol is going all out to police Missouri's highways over the Labor Day weekend. Colonel Hugh H. Waggoner, superintendent of the patrol, said that every effort will be made to reduce the tragic highway toll from that of last year, when ten persons were killed and 168 were injured in the rural areas of the state during the Labor Day weekend. Last year the Highway Patrol investigated 242 accidents in rural areas.

Patrol planes will be flying over the congested highways of the state to spot traffic violations and direct the ground force of patrol cars to the offenders. The patrol planes will also be used to reroute traffic where bottlenecks have created congestion and hazardous conditions.

Colonel Waggoner said that recent studies have shown that there are fewer accidents and less violations on highways where the patrol planes have been used during holiday periods. The reductions may have come about through better enforcement, accredited to the use of planes, or it may be the psychological effect on the motorist of being watched from the air. In either case it has accomplished the desired obective of saving lives.

Colonel Hugh H. Waggoner, superintendent of the Missouri State Highway Patrol has issued orders to all members of his organization to be extra alert in enforcement of highway safety laws, with the opening of schools. "The most tragic of all casualties," Col. Waggoner said, "is the death of a child that may have been prevented with the practice of common sense and careful driving. Motorists must assume the responsibility of protecting children for they have learned to depend upon grown-ups to watch out for them."

Colonel Waggoner reminds Missouri drivers that with school's opening the school busses will be back on the highway in full force. Missouri law requires that the motorist stop when meeting or overtaking a school bus on the highway, loading or unloading school children outside the limits of an incorporated town or city, and that he shall not proceed until the school bus resumes motion or until signalled by its driver to proceed. Colonel Waggoner pointed out that breaking traffic laws may save a few minutes — or it may snuff out the life of a child and leave the careless one with years of remorse.

Rustlers In Malaya

KOTA BAHRU, Malaya (AP) — Gangs of rustlers are rounding up cattle in lonely villages in North Malaya and taking them across the border into Thailand for sale to dealers.

Despite close cooperation between Malayan and Thai police, it has been difficult to detect stolen cattle being driven across the shallow Gelok River dividing the two countries, according to reports.

Grand Opening Here Friday Of New Firm, Sewing Circle

The grand opening of the Sewing Circle, a new store at 516 South Ohio, the former location of Dillon's Bakery, will be held Friday and Saturday, according to Karl Ozenberger, owner and manager.

The store will specialize in sales, service and repair of Necchi and Elna sewing machines. The Necchi is an Italian machine, while the Elna is Swiss. Both, however, are now produced by one firm and have been sold in the United States since World War II. There are more than 2,000 Sewing Circles in more than 1,000 cities in this country.

The Elna is a portable machine, while the Necchi is the console cabinet model. At the grand opening, there will be at least eight demonstrators to show the versatility of both makes.

The store has been open since Aug. 19, and its staff had a booth at the fair grounds. It has been redecorated, using plaster board on three walls. The ceiling has been painted cream, the upper walls light blue and the lower walls green. The windows contain dispays of the merchandise set on red satin.

Ozenberger, who is 28, is from St. Joseph, where his wife and 2½-year-old boy are now living until he completes the store opening preparations here. He has been connected with the sewing machine business for three years and is as dexterous with one of the machines as any woman.

Prior to his civilian career, he was with the Army for 2½ years, spending one year of that time in Germany and southern France. He was first sergeant of a unit in charge of a stockade containing about 1,400 German prisoners of war. During the day, the prisoners worked in an Army ordnance depot, repairing equipment.

Assisting Ozenberger in his store will be Mrs. Gladys Tomlinson, 900 East 13th, and three salesmen. Behind the main part of the store is a room which is to be converted into a combination service and storage room. The store is also handling rebuilt Hoover vacuum cleaners, along with its regular sewing machine stock.

Ozenberger says that later on a sewing school will be organized to acquaint housewives with the full abilities of their sewing machines. The school will be conducted in evening sessions at the store.

Colored Pictures of the Lions Convention Shown Local Club

Colored pictures of the 1953 International Association of Lions Clubs convention, held in Chicago last July, were shown to the Sedalia club at noon Wednesday by E. B. Smith, deputy district governor, who as past president of the local club was a delegate to the convention.

Smith gave a short report on the convention at the opening of the meeting and, through the showing of the pictures, told of the various floats, marching delegations, bands, etc. James McNeil, treasurer, also a delegate to the convention, who "shot" several pictures, explained those he took. D. Kelly Scruton, president, the third delegate, explained various Lions floats which have been in previous international parades.

Joe Ruddick gave a short talk on assignments of the members to their parts in the "Fashion Lions of 1953," to be given at the Liberty Theatre on Wednesday night, Sept. 30. The production triumvirate is composed of Cline Cain, Frank Deady and Joe Ruddick; choregrapher, Mrs. Peg'ee Hewitt Homan. Mrs. Leland Johnson will be in charge of the make-up of the actors.

Rehearsals of the group will start at 7 p. m. Thursday, Sept. 17, at the Liberty Theatre and continue each night until the production is presented for Sedalians.

Funds obtained through the show will be used by the Lions in their children activities such as the Pet Show, Hallowe'en Party, Christmas Party, Crippled Children, Blind and other charity work.

Guests were: Walter Cramer with W. C. Askew, Curtis Schupback with Dean Binderup, Lionel Schott, Morristown, N. J., with Joe Long, Ray Brueckner with Fred Kueck Jr., Marvin Burke, member of the Southside Lions Club of St. Joseph, with Don Weller.

Water For Ike's Birthplace

DENISON, Tex. (AP)—The Denison house where President Eisenhower was born will get running water for the first time.

The city council agreed to extend a line from a hydrant in the yard to the kitchen sink. This was asked by women serving as hostesses of the home — now a showplace.

The ladies hope some day a rest room will be installed. The Eisenhower birthplace plumbing is of the outside variety.

Plan Your Labor Day Supper

LABOR DAY PORCH SUPPER includes carrot and macaroni salad, sliced luncheon meat, sliced tomatoes and iced coffee.

Expecting a crowd on Labor Day? Then maybe these hefty salad recipes a friend in Darien, Conn., sent us will be welcome.

Carrot and Macaroni Salad
(4 to 6 servings)

Eight ounces elbow macaroni (cooked), 3-ounce can chopped broiled mushrooms, 1 tablespoon minced onion, ¼ cup seasoned French dressing, ¼ cup sour cream, 2 tablespoons real mayonnaise, 1 teaspoon prepared mustard, 1 teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, 1 cup coarsely shredded raw carrot, ¼ cup finely diced green pepper, lettuce.

Place cooked, drained macaroni in suitable container. Drain and add mushrooms, reserving broth for other use. Add onion and French dressing. Mix well, then cover and chill thoroughly.

When ready to serve, blend together the sour cream, mayonnaise, mustard, salt and pepper. Drain off any French dressing that remains on macaroni. Add carrot, green pepper and mayonnaise mixture to the macaroni. Toss together until well mixed. Serve in lettuce cups on cold platter with sliced fresh tomato, cucumber and your favorite luncheon meat.

Kidney Bean Salad
(4 to 6 servings)

Two cups drained cooked kidney beans (No. 2 can), 3-ounce can chopped broiled mushrooms, ½ cup diced Bermuda onion, ¼ cup seasoned French dressing, ½ cup diced green pepper, ½ cup diced celery, 1 cup diced unpeeled cucumber, 1 teaspoon prepared mustard, 2 tablespoons mayonnaise, ½ teaspoon salt.

Place beans in suitable container. Drain and add mushrooms, reserving broth for other use. Add mushrooms and onions to beans. Sprinkle with French dressing and toss lightly to coat thoroughly. Chill in refrigerator.

When ready to serve, drain off any excess French dressing. Add green pepper, celery and cucumber to beans. Blend together and add the mustard, mayonnaise and salt. Serve immediately on lettuce.

Tomorrow's Dinner: Cold tuna in hunks or sliced luncheon meat, kidney bean salad, sliced "beefsteak tomatoes, lettuce, warm rolls, blueberry cup cakes, iced coffee, milk.

Since most people identify letters from their tops, it is usually easier to read a line of type when the bottom half is covered up than to read the same line with the top half covered.

Barbers Won't Raise Price of Haircuts

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The price of men's haircuts in St. Louis won't be increased from $1.25 to $1.40, at least for the present.

Journeymen barbers withdrew their proposal to boost the price after AFL union barbershop operators turned down the proposal earlier with the comment that prices had gone as high as the traffic would bear.

The barbers said the matter would be reconsidered at a later meeting.

Most adult cork oak trees in the U.S. come from acorns which the government imported from Spain in 1858.

Doctor Saw Prisoners Die For No Reason

FREEDOM VILLAGE (AP) — "I saw many men die for no apparent reason," the doctor said.

"They had premonitions they would die.

"A fellow would tell his friends, 'don't bother to wake me in the morning. I am going to die.'"

I examined them. I could find nothing organically wrong. Yet the next morning they would be dead."

These were the men who lost hope in the Communist prison camps in the terrible winter of 1950 and in the first half of 1951. They thought they had nothing to live for.

Capt. Sydney Esensten of Minneapolis, Minn., an army doctor who was released today after 33 months in Red prison camps, described his efforts to save them.

Sometimes, Esensten said, Communist doctors did their best to save the lives of dying American prisoners. But often they were more interested in teaching Communism.

Esensten said many of the Americans who died in prison camp 5, Pyokton, suffered from malnutrition but did not die of starvation.

Russians Say Rival East, West Germans Should Ease Travel

BERLIN (AP) — The Russians say the rival East and West German governments should get together on the question of easing travel restrictions between the two zones of divided Germany.

This was the substance of a note sent by Soviet High Commissioner Vladimir Semyenov to his British, French and American counterparts. It was made public last night by the Soviet-licensed news agency ADN.

Corn Ripens Early; Water Is Hauled

By Mrs. Herbert Hansen

LINCOLN — Farm folk are working like mad these days, filling silos and building or digging new ones in which to store the large acreage of corn, which during the unusual weather conditions this summer is ripening quite prematurely.

Many are low on stock water and are finding it necessary to haul for their farm animals as well as for their own use. Though ponds and wells are dry, springs have long since ceased to bubble and rivers have been reduced to mere ribbons.

Supt. Lawrence Daniels reports that he is expecting an enrollment of approximately 325 students in the Lincoln schools this fall. The teachers are: Miss Avis Lee Cannon, administrative principal for district R-2; Ray Nelson, supervising principal of R-2; Robert Goser, industrial arts; Mrs. Dorothy Brady, Lincoln's all-school band leader and music teacher; Mrs. Gracie Kinnaman, vocational home economics; Miss Edna Johnson, English; Mrs. Marie Rambow, primary teacher; Miss Bernice Cole, grades III and IV and Mrs. Bethel Shipman.

Mrs. C. D. Brill, Lincoln; Mr. and Mrs. James W. Willis, Sedalia were employed as teachers at a special meeting of the board of education last Friday. Mrs. Willis and Mrs. Brill will be part time teachers. Harry O'Mealy, Sedalia, will fill the position of coaching. Mrs. J. R. Poague and George Kugler have been employed as teachers in R-2 rural schools.

All the district schools will open Sept. 7.

The beauty of the Lincoln school grounds is being improved by the driveway and parking space. It is hoped the project will not only lend beauty and balance to the scene, but also will aid in eliminating the unsightly and dangerous driveway crossing the grounds at the west side. The entire grounds with the exception of the new parking space, has been closed to traffic and parking.

Mr. Daniels also reports that the schools have undergone extensive repairs and redecorating of interiors the past few months. Rocky Dale, the rural elementary school for Negro children, has also been repaired and redecorated.

The janitorial position has not been filled yet, but Bill Kelb, who formerly served in that capacity, has been substituting as custodian since the latter part of July.

UP THE POLE—This monkey entertained San Diego, Calif., residents after escaping from his master and many children who joined in the chase. His place of refuge was atop a high tension pole. With nothing to eat for hours, he started to chew on the insulator of a line carrying 4000 volts. Authorities rescued the monkey before he injured himself.

Barbecue Salad Is Specialty Of Kentucky Amateur Chef

EASY TO PREPARE for a Labor Day luncheon is this molded egg barbecue salad, served with san dwiches and tall, cool drinks.

Our friend Bill Wedekind of Louisville, Ky., is the southern version of a first - rate amateur cook. One of his specialties is his version of Barbecue Salad.

The basic recipe is a can of tomato sauce added to dissolved lemon - flavored gelatin. From there on, it's every man to his taste.

A really inspired version of Barbecue Salad is his Tomato Avocado Aspic, finely diced avocado and celery added to the basic Barbecue Salad recipe. It's a good extender for Bill's other great specialty — southern - fried chicken. Not only delicious it's something pretty handsome to look at, too, with its fine garnish of avocado slices and crisp greens.

Here's another Barbecue Salad, a good dish to have in the refrigerator over Labor Day. Unexpected friends may drop in — bringing their appetites with them.

Chopped Egg Barbecue Salad
(Quick Tomato Aspic)

One package lemon - flavored gelatin, 1 cup hot water, 1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce, 1½ tablespoons vinegar, ½ teaspoon salt, dash of pepper, 3 diced hard-cooked eggs (seasoned with salt and pepper), 1 teaspoon grated onion, 1 cup finely diced celery, 1 tablespoon chopped green pepper.

Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Add tomato sauce, vinegar, salt and pepper. Blend. Chill until slightly thickened. Then fold in diced eggs, onion, celery and green pepper. Pour into 1 - quart mold. Chill until firm. Unmold. Garnish with crisp greens. Serve with mayonnaise, if desired. Makes 4 servings.

For a wonderful thirst quencher, try lemonade - grape nectar.

Lemonade - Grape Nectar

One egg, ½ cup grape juice, 4 tablespoons frozen lemonade, ½ cup chipped ice.

Place grape juice and frozen lemonade in the blender, add egg and chipped ice. Blend the contents thoroughly for two or three minutes. This will make one large glassful.

Miss Reeder Will Teach at Raton

KNOB NOSTER—Margaret Esther left Friday for Davenport, Ia., to visit friends following a visit with her sister, Miss Ruth Reeder at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Matthews. From Davenport she will go to Raton, N. M. where she teaches in the elementary schools.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Kendrick, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Wimer, Knob Noster, Mrs. Kendrick's father, Robert M. Shelton, Kansas City, have returned from a two week trip to Bemidji, Minn., and at Gull Lake near Brainerd, Minn.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Dickson, St. Joseph, spent Sunday with her sister, Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Easley.

Mrs. Edgar Williams, Hannibal, and Mrs. L. A. McMeekan, Warrensburg, had supper with Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Covey Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Price, Mary and Aaron, Tama, Ia., are visiting his sister, Mr. and Mrs. William Norman and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Pfeffer left Wednesday for their home in Albuquerque, N. M., after visiting friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hume and Mr. and Mrs. Neale Cooper were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Josiah Williams at their home near Leeton Friday evening.

Jane Gregory, Independence, is visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hume.

A missionary Education seminar for the Woman's Society of Christian Society was held at the Methodist Church Monday. The district officers explained the work for the coming year to the Methodist Women of Johnson County.

Many farmers in the Knob Noster vicinity have dug "ground silos" and are filling them with whatever green forage crop they might have, for winter use.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Covey and Mrs. Merle Matthews attended the wedding and reception of Miss Mary Ann Seigrest to Roy Warnken at Warrensburg Saturday afternoon.

The following, from Knob Noster Baptist Church attended the Johnson County General Associational meeting at the Enon Church in Pittsville Thursday: The Rev. Harry Higgins, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Vaughn, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Kile, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Parrott and Mrs. Charles Crowley.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ford, Reno, Nev., Mrs. Elmer Cassing and Mrs. Alma Saults, Concordia, Mrs. Dan Saults, and Courtney, Jefferson City, Mrs. C. F. Covey and Mrs. Merle Matthews were luncheon guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Saults Wednesday. The above mentioned with Mr. Covey and Miss Ruth Reeder were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Matthews Wednesday evening.

Merry-Go-Round

White House Gives Merry-Go-Round The Run-Around

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—A contract for $41,614 worth of new paneling for executive mansion corridors was let at the White House the other day under peculiar circumstances.

The company that got the contract didn't have its bid opened until one day after the 3 p.m. Aug. 17 deadline when the other four bids were in. This is highly unusual. Bids on government contracts are supposed to be opened simultaneously in the presence of all concerned.

But in this case the successful bid, that of the V. J. Miller Construction Company, was rushed in at the last moment, remained unopened all night, and when opened the next day turned out to be the law bid. The next highest bid, that of the Davis, Wick, Rosengarten Co., was for $43,255.

What added to the unusual circumstances was a mysterious phone call by the chief White House usher, Howell G. Crim, one hour after the first four bids were opened, to a Bert Matthews telling him to get his bid in right away. However, Crim called the wrong Matthews.

Bert Matthews is with the Tuckman-Barbee Construction Company which did not bid on the White House contract. And when he protested that he didn't know what it was all about, but perhaps Crim wanted another Matthews who was with the V. J. Miller Company, White House Usher Crim abruptly ended the conversation.

The contract negotiations occurred when President Eisenhower was in Denver. The White House usher is the top permanent functionary in the executive mansion, and Mr. Crim has served there some years with a good record. However, attempts by this column to get to the bottom of the contract award resulted in one of the most unusual run-arounds in run-around Washington.

White House Explains

White House Usher Crim, asked by this column for an explanation for the delayed bid, at first said he had nothing to do with the Miller contract, that he was on vacation and the bids had been handled by Roger Steffan, special assistant to the President. He added that he had gone to the bid-opening only as a spectator.

"I went down out of personal interest because I had never seen it. I was only a spectator," he said.

But when asked why was the V. J. Miller bid not opened with the others, Crim seemed to have more than a spectator's knowledge.

"We wanted to get this work done while the President was away," he replied. "So we invited four contractors to bid, and we specified the time the bids were to be opened. Miller came in the last minute. He had not been invited to bid but asked for permission to submit a bid. We decided to take it under advisement."

"Why wasn't the Miller bid opened on the spot?" Crim was asked.

"We wanted time to decide whether to consider the bid at all," Crim explained.

Asked about the mysterious phone call to Bert Matthews an hour after the first four bids were opened, Crim acknowledged that he made the call and had cut the conversation short when he found Matthews wasn't the right man.

"I was simply calling to find out if he was the agent for the V. J. Miller Co.," he explained. "We didn't know anything about the company, and I was calling to check on the bid."

"But I thought you attended the bid opening only as a spectator and that Roger Steffan handled the whole thing," Crim was asked. "It now looks as if you were taking a very active part in the whole matter."

Crim then reversed his previous statement that he was on vacation, said he had come back to work for a day or two.

The Merry-Go-Round

Roger Steffan, when questioned, flatly denied that he had anything to do with the contract. He said it had been handled by F. T. Gartside of National Capital Parks at the Interior Department.

Gartside, upon questioning, promptly stated that the contract was a White House matter and he had been instructed to refer all inquiries to the White House.

"We just talked to the White House," Gartside was told, "and they referred us to you."

Cartside thought this over, then asked for time to check with the White House.

A second call to him was met with instructions from his secretary to talk to Larry Smith, Interior Department public relations officer. Mr. Smith was obliging but frankly unfamiliar with the technical details of the White House contract. He finally put Gartside back on the phone.

Gartside explained that the unusual delay in opening Miller's bid was due to the fact that Miller had not yet inspected the White House.

"But Miller had inspected the White House and the Secret Service knew it."

"I realize that," Gartside replied, "but my chief, Mr. Horn, didn't."

"Who finally made the decision to open the Miller bid?"

"We received instructions," Gartside replied.

"What do you mean you 'received instructions'?

"The White House says that you were in charge of the contract arrangements. Why did you need instructions?"

"The appropriations act," he replied, "entrusts these funds to the control of White House authorities."

"Then who in the White House instructed you to open the Miller bid?"

"I got my instructions from Mr. Crim. I don't know who gave him his instructions."

"But Crim said that he was present merely as a spectator. Now you say Crim gave you instructions.

Gartside seemed stumped at this, rad no real reply.

"Crim," he was reminded, "states that Roger Steffan was in charge. But Steffan in turn stated that you were in charge. And now you state that Crim was in charge. That's what some people would call the Washington Merry-Go-Round."

Note—Under Public Law 269 it is legal for the White House to give contractors the run-around. This law states that "this money is to be expended as the President shall determine, nothwithstanding the provisions of any other act." Thus the White House can take up the time and money of contractors by inviting bids, then turn around and award the contract to whomever it pleases.

Reds' H-Device Should Jolt U. S. Feeling of Complacency

By BRUCE BIOSSAT

Now the boast is no longer empty. The Russians have the hydrogen bomb, or a rough equivalent. And once again the United States and its friends must re-examine their stategic position in the world.

We have lost exclusive possession of a devastating device, as we did the A-bomb before it. But it was a loss we had expected, sooner or later. For a long time we have not built our military strategy on the idea we would have an H-bomb or an A-bomb monopoly.

We have instead determined to put our reliance upon the size and effectiveness of our increasing A-bomb arsenal, and upon our two-year head start toward a similar advantage with the H-bomb. In other words, out motto is "more and better."

In the A-bomb category, where work is naturally further advanced, the United States had added greatly to its total stock. It has developed an atomic explosive considerably more powerful than those dropped on Japan. Moreover, it has devised a variety of smaller A-bombs for tactical use, as for instance the atomic artillery shell.

From the testimony of our experts, who are able to make shrewd professional guesses as to Russia's countering atomic stockpile, we are evidently far in the lead on both quality and quantity.

We have the assurance of Chairman Lewis L. Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission that our H-bomb effort actually reached the testing stage in 1951, a whole year before experiments had been reported previously.

These appraisals of our strength in a field that is crucial to our entire strategy are comforting. Yet it is obvious to all of us that we cannot therefore slide into complacency. Neither our great, complex industrial base nor our celebrated technical talents are automatic guarantees of continued superiority.

We have greater resources, plant capacity, and ordinary mass production know-how than the Russians. But they exact more military production from their smaller base, grinding the faces of the civilian population in a way we could not tolerate.

On the technical side, we dare not smugly assume that all genius rests with us. The A-bomb was not strictly an America product, and we didn't invent jet engines, guided missiles and radar. We need the cross-fertilization of the brains from many lands, or our advantage may diminish.

Furthermore, "effectiveness" in this field means more than efficiency as an explosive. It involves our ability to deliver the weapons to desired targets. That translates into planes—and bases. In the judgment of our top military men, any policy that does not include adequate numbers of bombers based within range of the prospective enemy is not a safe policy.

Russia has not surprised us with its mastery of the hydrogen device. But it has reminded us that there can be no relaxing for us, either in stiffening our home defenses or developing our power to snap back and pulverize the enemy's cities.

Don't Avoid Examination For An Irregular Heartbeat

By Edwin P. Jordan, M. D.

Several readers have recently asked if an irreguular heartbeat is serious and just what it means to the general health. This is a worthwhile question, since many people at one time or another during life notice an irregularity of the heartbeat and often become extremely and perhaps unnecessarily worried about it.

When someone notices that the heart skips a beat now and again, or seems to be beating irregularly, the condition should not be ignored. Physical examination should certainly not be avoided, though many people do this in the apparent fear that the physician will find something wrong which the patient does not really want to know!

Actually, one of the most common causes for an irregular beating of the heart is a condition called extra systole, which is characterized by an occasional extra beat of the heart followed by a pause. This is not painful, though a person who has it is usually conscious of the change in heartbeat.

This type of irregularity is not usually a true evidence of heart disease, and, while it should be identified by professional examination, is not a cause for undue worry.

The cause or causes of extra systole cannot always be discovered. Some people get rid of this condition by stopping smoking and others by leading a quieter life.

Another rather common type of heart irregularity is called paroxysmal tachycardia. Paroxysmal tachycardia merely means a heart which beats too fast ever once in a while. Many people have this for years without any apparent harm.

There are other kinds of irregularities of the heart which are more serious. Auricular fibrillation, for example, is probably caused, at least to some extent, by interference with the circulation of the blood which supplies the heart muscles. The electrical impulses which pass through the heart and make the chambers beat in the normal order are disturbed. This causes the chambers to beat out of order, and produces an irregularity.

Drugs May Be Used

The nature of the heart irregularity can be discovered by physical examination and by the use of an instrument called the electrocardiograph, which measures the electrical impulses through the heart. The exact diagnosis allows the physician to give the proper advice. Drugs are used in some cases. In auricular fibrillation, for example, digitalis and quinidine are drugs which are frequently employed.

Dulles Warns Chinese Reds

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles' warning to the Chinese Communists that this country may attack them on their home soil if they renew the Korean War or invade Indochina was tough, was new in a guarded way, and was part of an evolutionary process that began in 1947 but had roots in a past more distant than that.

Without saying it in so many words, Dulles implied that if the former administration — President Truman and Secretary of State Acheson—had warned the Communists this country would fight to defend Korea, instead of letting them assume, maybe it wouldn't, Korea might never have been invaded.

Dulles in his speech to the American Legion yesterday gave the Communists his warning which, nevertheless, in carefully chosen language stopped just short of flatly saying: "If you do this, we'll do that." He could hardly have gone much further than he did.

The secretary of state can't declare war any time, either beforehand or in a crisis. That's reserved to Congress, although in a crisis President Eisenhower could turn the military machine loose on China, just as Truman did in Korea, with the net result of putting the country into war without formal declaration by Congress. Truman's sudden action was the first shock the Communists got in Korea.

Whether Dulles was truly reflecting the mood of the nation or of Congress—in warning of war if China moves again—is something he will be able to gauge only later when he begins hearing the reaction of the public and the lawmakers.

Nevertheless, the very toughness of his talk was only the logical development of a series of efforts, each increasingly tough, which began on March 12, 1947, when Truman asked Congress to block communism in southern Europe by voting aid for Greece and Turkey. That was the first official word to the Communists that this country had finally abandoned the hope of getting along with them by sweet reasonableness unbacked by force.

The Truman Doctrine, it was called, and was considered by some a reversal of President Monroe's doctrine of 123 years before. Actually, it was not so much a reversal as an extension. Monroe warned European nations to keep their nose out of the Americas, North and South. In return this country said it would stay out of European affairs. To that extent, the Truman Doctrine was a departure from the Monroe Doctrine, but that trend had begun as long ago as the first World War.

But there was a sentence in the Monroe Doctrine which provided historical and philosophical justification for the United States to step into Europe any time it thought necessary for the short or long-range welfare of this country: "It is only when our rights are invaded or seriously menaced that we resent injuries or make preparations for our defense."

Truman thought this country's existence, which would of course include its rights, were seriously menaced by the encroachments of communism. And this was how he justified extending the American security frontier to Europe.

This was followed quickly by the program of economic aid for Europe, announced by Secretary of State Marshall June 5, 1947, in a speech at Harvard University. The pattern was taking shape: bit by bit this country was getting tougher with communism.

One year later, in June 1948, the Senate approved a resolution by the late Sen. Vandenberg contemplating that this country would make a military alliance, for the first time in peacetime history, with European countries.

The result: On April 4, 1949, this country signed the North Atlantic Pact—which in plain and public language said this country and its allies would come to one another's help in case of attack—and then began the program of sending arms to Europe, and the real military buildup after the Korean fighting began.

Grandmother never in her life sang—she couldn't sing and she knew it, too, and she never even tried for any reason. But one night when she was visiting in the home of her son, she and one of her little granddaughters were in the same bedroom. The katydids were having quite a concert outside the window and it was getting on the little girl's nerves.

"I can't go to sleep, Grandmother", she said, "They make so much noise. Sing me to sleep."

The grandmother was astounded that anyone would ever ask her to sing and she tried to tell the child she couldn't sing, but the little girl insisted—so grandmother sang.

"I am sure that my singing sounded much worse than the noise of the katydids", said the grandmother, "But never-the-less, I sang her to sleep."

The next morning the grandmother asked the little girl's parents if they heard her singing. They didn't,—and that was quite a relief to grandmother. Maybe the Katydids drowned her out. —H. L.

ROSE'S Last Summer

by Margaret Millar

Copyright 1952 by Margaret Millar. Used by arrangement with the publishers, Random House, Inc. Distributed by NEA Service.

THE STORY: Frank Clyde, welfare worker, is unable to explain a phone call he received at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon and a postcard mailed at 6:30 p. m. that day, both from Rose French, forgotten star of the silent films. The medical examiner says that Rose died about noon on Monday. Frank tells his story to Police Captain Greer.

* * *

IV

THE telephone on Captain Greer's desk buzzed and he leaned forward with a grunt of annoyance and picked it up. "Greer speaking."

"This is Malgradi. I'm down at the F. P. There's a man in my office that wants to see Rose."

"Who is he?"

"Claims to be her husband. I got her looking pretty nice, but I thought I better check with you first before letting anybody see her."

"What's his name?"

"Dalloway. Haley Dalloway."

"Keep him around until I get there. I'll be right down."

"I haven't had any dinner yet."

"I'll bring you a bag of popcorn." Greer put down the phone and turned to Frank. "Dalloway's showed up, her first husband. Come along and meet him at the funeral parlor."

Malgradi's office at first glance seemed like a somber room dedicated to sorrow. A more careful study revealed a camouflaged television set, a portable bar discreetly draped in gray velvet.

The room smelled of cigar smoke. The man who was smoking the cigar rose and looked around nervously for an ash tray. Finding none, he transferred the cigar to his gloved left hand. He was tall and erect, a man in his sixties, with clipped white hair and wide-spaced brown eyes that looked naive and trusting as a boy's. He had trusted, perhaps, too often and too well. The rest of his face bore the marks of bitterness and pain.

The hand holding the cigar remained motionless and Frank realized that it was artificial.

Dalloway took a hesitating step forward. "You're the police?"

Greer nodded.

"I'm Haley Dalloway. This is terrible, a terrible thing. Rose was always so full of life and energy." He turned away for a moment, fighting for control.

When he recovered his composure, Greer introduced Frank and himself.

* * *

GREER was studying Dalloway, not subtly, the way Frank had to observe his cases, but openly and directly the way Miriam sized people up. "You live here, Mr. Dalloway?"

"No. I live in Belmont, that's a suburb of Boston. I came out here for—for a vacation."

"Where are you staying?"

"At the Rancho del Mar. It's a motel down near the beach, East Beach, I believe they call it. If there's anything you want to discuss with me you can reach me there. Right now I—I'd like to see Rose."

"Certainly," Greer said politely. "Do you mind if Mr. Clyde here goes along?"

"Well, I—no."

"Mr. Clyde was a friend of Rose's. He's been trying to help her this past year."

"Help her?" Dalloway's eyes focused on Frank. "Are you a doctor?"

"I work for the mental hygiene clinic," Frank said.

"You mean Rose was insane?"

"No, indeed I don't. The clinic does preventive work. I gave Rose an appointment whenever I felt that she was getting too depressed or too high."

"Rose was always like that," Dalloway said quite brusquely. "One day she'd be so low she hated everyone, and the next day she'd be the life of the party."

Frank gazed down at the dead woman. She didn't look like Rose at all. In life Rose had been rather careless. No matter how often she combed her hair it always looked a little wild, her make-up was never quite straight.

Now Rose lay in her casket, meticulous, not a hair out of place. Her cotton-stuffed cheeks were symmetrically rosy, her mouth rigid and straight as if she didn't dare to move it for fear of disturbing the lipstick.

"I'd never have known her, she's aged so much." Dalloway spoke as if the years that had aged Rose had passed him without a glance. "She's still wearing my ring."

"I've never seen her without it."

"That's funny, isn't it, after all that's happened to her. I used to read about her in the papers from time to time, after she left me." Except for his breathing which was labored and irregular, Dalloway seemed under control. "Did she ever tell you how she left me?"

"Once. She ran away with a circus."

* * *

"THAT'S right. The circus was in town—we were living in Boulder Junction then—and when it moved out Rose moved with it. After the divorce I married again. I had to give our daughter Lora a home."

"She never mentioned a child."

Dalloway was not surprised. "How like Rose to forget the inconvenient things. I'd like to hear more about Rose, how she's been living the last while. Perhaps you might consider coming down to my motel?"

"I might."

"The fact is, I'm alone in town. It's rather depressing."

"Your family didn't come with you?"

"I no longer have a family. My wife died several years ago. And Lora—" Dalloway's face tightened like a fist, and for the first time Frank saw, behind the innocent and trusting eyes, a shrewd, hard, obstinate man. "My daughter, Lora, disappeared two months ago."

FORTY YEARS AGO

Labor Day, celebrated Sept. 1 at Liberty Park, was one of the largest attended of any like event in the history of the city. Although heat was intense, with the high thermometer reading 102 degrees, the crowd seemed to enjoy the day. Band concerts were given during the forenoon, with speaking and a baseball game in the afternoon. The day's events ended with a dance in the park hall. A special excursion train from Windsor brought in several hundred.
